'Never Before Had a Great Army Been So Totally Destroyed'

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(Reuters)—Field Marshal Viscount Alexander's own story of the achievements of United States, British and French troops which, under his command, swept the Germans and Italians from North Africa in 1943, and cleared the way for the invasion of Southern Europe was published today.

Lord Alexander, now governor-general of Canada, tells of the 1,800-mile desert sovance which ended the threat to Egypt and of the Tunisian campaign which was " an unusually complete example of the battle of annihilation" in a dispatch sent to the British War Office in May last year and now released.

When, on May 7, 1943, United States troops entered Bizerta and British troops entered Tunis, Rommel's African army was finished and the way was clear for the invasion of Sicily.

"Never before had a great army been so totally destroyed," Lord Alexander declares. "A quarter of a million men laid down their arms in unconditional surrender; 663 escaped. Immense stocks of arms, ammunition and supplies of all natures were the booty of the victors. Our own casualties in the final battle were less than 2,000 men."

Lord Alexander describes the Tunisian campaign and the sweep across Cyrenaica and Libya which proceeded it as "the first wholly successful campaign against the Axis."

It was remarkable because it produced "a new instrument of victory in the form of close collaboration between the Allies which was to be not only a battle-winning but a war-winning factor."...

Lord Alexander attributes much credit for the success of the Anglo-American fighting partnership to Gen. Eisenhower, his immediate superior.

"It was not inevitable by any means that British and American troops should show, in the first battle they had fought together since 1918, such a wholehearted spirit of comradeship."

He said of the commander-in-chief: "My relations with Gen. Eisenhower were of the happiest and I value them both for personal reasons and from the point of view of the task in mind: He backed me up in every possible way and I knew that I could in all circumstances rely on his complete understanding, sympathy and support."

Lord Alexander reports favorably on the late Gen. George Patton who before his dramatic role in the European fighting served under the British field marshal as a corps commander.

Under Gen. Patton, United States troops had "recovered from the natural depression caused by the early setbacks . . . they had absorbed with great rapidity. The benefits of the intensive training to which they had been subjected were now showing in hard mountain fighting . . ."

Legends which developed around his opposite number in the fighting, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, were not justified, Lord Alexander declared. There was "an exaggeration of his undoubted qualities which tended to have a depressing effect on our own troops, however much it may have appealed to the newspaper reader at home . . ."

The timetable for the Tunisian campaign was decided at the Casablanca conference of President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and the combined chiefs of staff in January, 1943. There was much fierce fighting before it was won. In February, Rommel attacked through the Kasserine Pass and gave Lord Alexander "many anxious moments."

In March, the battle for the Tunisian Plain was in full swing. Rommel, a sick man with a dirty bandage round his neck to cover desert sores, said unless he won this battle his last hope in Africa was gone.

He lost it. By April 11 Allied troops had occupied the coastal plain. The final assault was launched. The end of April and Tunis and Bizerta were entered on May 6.

"I found . . . I had Bizerta and Tunis eight days before the allotted date and that all resistance ceased in Africa with two days yet to spare."

Scenes As Plywood Plant Destroyed

Above are two scenes showing complete destruction of the main building of the Northern Plywoods Limited, following a fire which broke out about 12:30 p.m. Wednesday. When the pictures were taken flames had completely engulfed the building and the roof had fallen in. Loss was estimated at $100,000. Heavy machinery and about $7,500 worth of new plywood was lost. The fire department was able to string only one line of hose, the nearest hydrant being five blocks away. The fire was second in West Jasper Place Wednesday. In the morning a $5,000 house was destroyed.

Senator Says Liberals Ready To Face Test

VANCOUVER, Feb. 5.—(CP)—A general election "within three months" was hinted by Senator Ian A. Mackenzie in the course of an address last night.

Replying to tributes paid him by supporters at a banquet in his honor, Senator Mackenzie said: "We are facing tremendous problems. The Liberal party is facing a crucial test and may face it within three months on the basis of present events and trends."

This was taken by some supporters as an indication there may be a general election shortly.

HE SAID CHOICE of a Liberal candidate in Vancouver-Centre federal by-election would have to be free of any Ottawa influences and could never be won by a "capitalist candidate."

The Vancouver-Centre riding became vacant when the former veterans' minister was appointed to the Senate two weeks ago. The date of the by-election has not been set nor have any candidates been nominated.

"Vancouver-Centre is the dynamic constituency of Canada and the key constituency of British Columbia," said Senator Mackenzie.

JAMES GORDON, Vancouver-Centre Liberal Association president, presented Senator and Mrs. Mackenzie with a silver table set and expressed the hope that Mr. Mackenzie "will be of further use to this Dominion of ours."

Barbara on Threshold Of Olympic Crown

By Jack Sullivan

ST. MORITZ, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Amid full-throated applause from a colorful crowd, Canada's Barbara Ann Scott skated gracefully today to the threshold of the Olympic throne which Norway's Sonja Henie occupied from 1927 to 1936.

LOOKING TRIM in an all-white costume topped by a bonnet trimmed with red, and wearing sun glasses, the 19-year-old Ottawa skater finished the five compulsory figures—first half of the ladies' figure-skating championship — in top position among 25 women from 11 countries, the Olympic press announced.

Official Olympic press bureau figures gave Miss Scott 858.1 points, compared with 842.1 for Jeannette Altwegg, Britain, second. In order following were Eva Pawlik, Austria, 832.1; Jirina Nekolova, Czechoslovkia, 807.2; Bridget Adams, Britain, 806.8; Gretchen Merrill, United States, 796.0.

Suzanne Morrow of Toronto was 10th with 761.9 points and Marilyn Ruth Take, also of Toronto, 13th with 754.1.

The free-style figures which conclude the event will be skated later this week.

Republican Group Chief Is Elected

DUBLIN, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Sean McBride, leader of the newly-formed Clann Na Poblachta (Republican Party), today was elected in Dublin's southwest district giving his party its first success in the Eire general election.

The government party, Fianna Fail, which must retain 74 of its present 76 in the Dail to have an independent working majority, was leading with five of the 11 seats in which results were known.

Fine Gael, Gen. Richard Mulcahy's group, the current opposition party, held three seats, the Republicans two and the Farmers' party one.

THE FIRST Republican was elected in Dublin Southeast, where there was a surprise result which left the Fine Gael candidate leading the poll in this three-seat constituency. Sean McEntee, minister for local government in de Valera's cabinet, who had headed "le poil for years, was second, and the Republican candidate won the third seat.

MacBride, 43-year-old Dublin lawyer and former Irish Republican Army commander, headed the poll in his constituency. The Republican leader, whose party made a sudden appearance on the Irish political scene only two years ago, is the son of Maud Gonne, famous Irish beauty who campaigned for Irish independence. His father was executed by British authorities after the Easter rising of 1916.

MACBRIDE'S PARTY won two of three by-elections held several months ago. His victories were followed by de Valera's decision to call a general election 18 months before it was constitutionally due.

In results shown today Finance Minister F. Aiken, was elected at the head of the poll in County Louth.

Blind hock. He also told the court.

Reuters News Agency earlier had reported that Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party was moving strongly and might gain a big overall victory.

THIS FOLLOWED the winning by Fianna Fail of an East Donegal seat—the first decided—in addition to one not contested.

At the same time Reuters said the new Clann Na Poblachta (Republican) party headed by Sean MacBride "so far has made a poor showing."

Board Findings Likely Saturday

CALGARY, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Union and company spokesmen yesterday completed their submissions before a three-man board appointed by the Alberta government in an attempt to settle the contract dispute between District 18, United Mine Workers of America (C.C.L.) and Western Canada domestic and bituminous coal operators.

The board, headed by Dr. C. Fred McNally, chancellor of the University of Alberta, now will meet in private sessions to arrive at an award which is expected to be submitted to the department of trade and industry in Edmonton by Saturday.

Under Alberta labor legislation, findings of the board are not binding on either party, but must be submitted to the union membership for acceptance or rejection by secret ballot.

M'Laughlin Showing Way in Bonspiel

George McLaughlin of the Royal Club continued to show the way as the 31st annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association entered its fourth day of play Thursday morning. McLaughlin captured his tenth straight victory without a defeat, when in a closely contested 13-end match, he edged out Don Butt of the Edmonton Club to enter the eights of the King Edward Hotel trophy competition Thursday morning.

THREE OTHER THIRTEEN-end games featured the morning draw. Glasgow of the Royal defeated Spencer, Granite 10-9 to enter the eights of the Selkirk Hotel trophy event. Mayor Harry Ainlay's rink suffered its second reverse of the tournament, a four-winning six in a row, when they bowed to Hudson of Alberta Avenue, 11-10 in a hotly contested 13-end feature. The result put the Hudson quartet into the eights of the Edmonton Motors competition. The other extra end match saw Pawlina of Vegreville edge out Yakabuski of Tofield 9 to 8.

When Hudson entered the eights of the Edmonton Motors competitions on the Thursday morning draw, they were Colquhoun of Dayland who disposed of Rev. Brunton this morning by his defeat of the strong Ainlay rink it saw his fifth extra end game in a row.

FIVE OTHER RINKS entered the eights, also of Dayland, 10 to 6 in the Visitors event; Walker of the Royal who defeated Durragh, Granite, 10 to 4 in the Edmonton Motors; Bert Robinson of Jasper who just managed to edge out Sjolie of Camrose 7 to 6 in the Royal George; Johnone of Chilliwack, B.C. who beat Thimassen of Innisfree, 13 to 6 in the T. Eaton Company event, and Thorougham, Veteran, who turned back Gilchrist of Sangudo also in the Eaton competition.

Complete Results of This Morning's Draw Will Be Found On Page 2.

Truman Believes Crash Inevitable

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—President Truman said today prices are rising so alarmingly that a crash is inevitable unless something is done to halt them.

For his part, Truman said he will keep telling Congress he needs authority to impose price controls.

Talking to a press conference, the President brought out charts prepared by the budget bureau.

He said they show steady rises in the prices of commodities, food and all other items since he asked for stand-by price and rationing authority in a message to the special session of Congress last November.

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The toll from accidents in the United States in 1947, says the National Safety Council, was 100,000 killed, 10,500,000 injured and $6,700,000,000 economic loss.

Over 20,000 Approved

Many Groups Seeking European Immigrants

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—More than 100 organizations —chiefly industrial firms—have applied for and received approval for the admission of European immigrants to Canada, Resources Minister Glen disclosed in the Commons yesterday.

MR. GLEN SAID that at the end of 1947 the number of immigrants so approved was 20,201, while 5,091 actually had been admitted. These were in addition to relatives of Canadian residents.

Gold-mining firms were the most numerous in the list of those seeking new workers. Others included the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Canadian Pacific Railway, and lumber, construction, paper and manufacturing firms of various kinds.

Largest prospective individual sponsor of European labor was the C.P.R., which had applications for 2,035 approved and 175 actually in the country. The power commission was second, with a total of 2,000, of whom 91 had arrived. Third was the R. F. Welch Construction Company, seeking 1,500 of whom 96 had landed.

For its members, the National Council of Clothing Manufacturers had approval for 2,316, of whom 36 had been brought in.

OTHER LARGE applicants included Spruce Falls Power & Paper Company, 600; Abitibi Power and Paper Company, 597; Great Lakes Paper Company, 420; Brompton Pulp and Paper Company, 400; Pigeon Timber Company, 300. All of these have arrived.

In addition, the Canadian Jewish Congress has obtained permission for the entry of 1,000 orphans. Of these, 193 had landed at the end of the year.

Also included in the group of 20,201 were 2,000 domestics, of which 704 had been brought in.

The minister also gave the house a breakdown into types of the 56,588 immigrants admitted to Canada in the first 11 months of 1947. These consisted of 24,357 male adults, 21,917 female adults and 10,414 children.

Last War Crimes Trials Begin

German General Leaps to Death

By THOMAS A. REEDY

NUERNBERG, Feb. 5.—(AP)—United States prosecutors opened their case against 14 German military leaders today—the 12th and last war-crimes trial to be held here. They accused Germany's professional soldiers of rearming for war even before Hitler.

THE CHIEF PROSECUTORS said this last case might "well prove of greater importance to Germany than any other."

Being tried by an all-American court are three field marshals, one admiral and 10 generals. They are charged with crimes against peace and humanity. The top defendant is Field Marshal Wilhelm Ritter von Leeb.

One of the 14 accused killed himself shortly before the trial was to begin. Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz jumped 30 feet from a high catwalk to the tile floor of the prison rotunda, after eluding his guards. His lungs punctured, he died later in hospital.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief United States war crimes prosecutor, outlined the part played by each defendant in relation to the general staff. He contended that the general staff kept German war spirit alive with a quiet, effective program for militarism between wars.

Amendment Ruled Out

Angry Opposition in Commons To Govt. Stand on Prices

By D'Arcy O'Donnell

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—An angry Commons opposition yesterday flayed the government for declining to broaden the powers of its proposed committee on living costs, and M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, went so far as to suggest the opposition could quite properly refuse to sit on the committee.

MR. COLDWELL MADE the suggestion before moving an amendment which called on the house to express the opinion that present price demands and the people want action by the government to restore price controls and subsidies and not an investigating committee.

The amendment was ruled out of order by Speaker Gaspard Fauteux and on an appeal by the CCF, his decision was upheld 115 to 87.

Dr. Fauteux, who Tuesday night ruled out of order Progressive Conservative and CCF amendments aimed at broadening the powers of the committee, said the new amendment was inadmissible because it deleted all the words in the original motion and substituted others.

Opposition Threatens But Won't Boycott

By Chester Bloom

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—The latest phase of the political shadow boxing in the House over powers of the new price investigation committee are the threats being uttered, openly and behind the scenes, by opposition parties that they might boycott the committee.

THERE ISN'T the slightest possibility of any opposition party members refusing to serve on the committee.

It's merely the kind of loose talk that's been going on ever since the debate opened, on how this supposedly "fact-finding" committee should perform.

If anyone thinks that the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties are going to pass up this marvelous opportunity to air their own peculiar brands of economic ideologies on

Planned Student Union Building

1,484 in Favor, 501 Against

University Students Vote In Favor of Union Building

Students on the University of Alberta campus Wednesday voted in favor of adopting the present scheme for construction of the $500,000 first unit of their union building by a count of 1,484 to 501.

UNDER EXISTING plans, tenders for construction will be called by the end of July. Officials told The Edmonton Bulletin Wednesday night that it is hoped foundations will be completed next fall, and the building ready for occupation by the spring of 1950.

Plans for the proposed gymnasium, swimming pool and auditorium have been temporarily shelved. It is expected that a provincial drive will be held next fall, with a goal of $100,000, to obtain funds for furnishing first unit of the structure.

The university alumni association announced Saturday that it would support such a drive.

CONSTRUCTION of the building is being financed by $100,000 already in students' union coffers, together with provincial government $400,000 interest-free loan, repayable over a 30-year period.

Varsity drill hall, on which site the students' building will be located, will be moved immediately after the final examinations next April.

In the meantime, plans for inside finishing of the building must be completed, and the overall plan checked and submitted to architects. Board of Governors of the university will appoint official architects, but the students' council last night recommended the firm of Rule, Wynn and Rule.

Pending completion of architects' plans tenders will be called in July. A firm bid, with no escalator clauses, will be specified, The Bulletin was told.

STUDENTS' COUNCIL has announced the retirement of Willard Pybus, former president of the students' union, and chairman of the building advisory board.

Other members of the board are F. G. Winspear, who as president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce represented that body on the advisory board; B. W. Pitfield, representing the Board of Governors; Dr. John W. Neilson, city dentist, representing the Alumni Association; Leroy Thomsen, faculty representative; Archie W. Campbell, permanent secretary of the students' union and secretary of the advisory board; George Hartling, union president, David Sinclair, treasurer, and Mr. Pybus, students' representatives on the board; Gordon Wynn, Varsity alumnus, as ex officio architectural advisor.

More Than $5,500,000,000 Given to Needy by Dominion

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—In the last seven years, Canada has contributed more than $5,500,000,000 to European countries and members of the British commonwealth in outright gifts, various forms of relief and credits and loans.

THIS WAS DISCLOSED yesterday in the commons by Finance Minister Abbott in a detailed written reply to a question by D. C. McCuaig (C.C.F., Maple Creek).

This is the first time that these details have been officially released in such complete form and they come at a time when the United States congress is deciding on the European recovery program under which Canada may be asked to make further contributions.

The figures given to the commons yesterday showed the outright gifts were $1,000,000,000 to the United Kingdom, $19,382,079 in wheat to Greece and $2,211,070,000 to nine countries under the mutual aid section of the War Appropriations Acts.

The break-down for the nine mutual aid countries was $91,119,000 to Australia; $5,518,000 to the British West Indies; $26,597,000 to China; $23,629,000 to France; $12,000 to Greece; $18,826,000 to India; $15,278,000 to New Zealand; $159,113,000 to Russia and $1,570,978,000 to the U.K.

MR. ABBOTT said that the mutual-aid figures differ from those published in the final report of the Mutual Aid Board due to the elimination of the costs of goods on hand and declared surplus at the end of the war.

Total amount loaned to last Dec. 31 was $2,006,609,299, although the amount authorized under various acts of parliament was $2,554,000,000. The remainder presumably will be taken up this year by the nine countries involved.

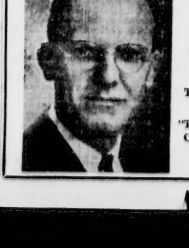

The largest loans went to the U.K., with one for $700,000,000 which has all been taken up and another for $1,250,000,000 of which $963,000,000 has been taken.

BELGIUM HAS TAKEN $67,000,000 of $100,000,000 loan; China $32,040,088 of $60,000,000; Czechoslovakia $12,067,982 of $19,000,000; France $196,435,000 of $242,500,000; The Netherlands $104,638,131 of $125,000,000; Netherlands East Indies $10,000,000 of $15,000,000 and Norway $19,962,000 of $30,000,000.

The $10,000,000 loan to Russia has also been taken up and repaid in full as at last Dec. 31. This was for purchase of wheat and flour.

Another loan to the Soviet Union of $3,000,000 has been used to the extent of $2,866,098.

such a brassy sounding board, they need their heads examined.

Or if extreme party adherents imagine that their modernized heirs, the Progressive-Conservatives are going to talk at the chance to keep on walloping the government on any board they can think up, right under the spotlight, they ought to go on an exclusive fish diet, supposed to be good for brains.

THE PRIME MINISTER, himself, led off with a haymeker swing at ghostly punching hag when he offered the alibi for his opposition to the old Stevens price probe on the ground that in 1934 prices were going down while now they are blowing up right in the face of his own price probe committee.

Perhaps the most comic touch was John Bracken's claim that the new committee is just side-stepping the real cause of high prices, namely the government's inflationary monetary policies.

If anyone can produce a specific case where Mr. Bracken's P. C.'s either before or after John's belated appearance in the house, ever cast a vote against any real government inflationary expenditure, someone should give that man seven silver dollars. Remember the family allowances now costing taxpayers more than a quarter billion dollars a year. Check up and see who voted for that.

THE FACT IS THAT the government expects to prove in this committee that the real cause of Canadian monetary inflation was the war expenditures against which all parties were helpless.

That was amply demonstrated by Hon. Douglas C. Abbott's factual review in the house Monday detailing how Canada in seven years has extended 5½ billion dollars (billions, not millions of dollars) to European and British Commonwealth countries as outright gifts, mutual aid, loans, and various forms of relief.

Add to that the direct war expenditure of Canada and post-war expenditures growing out of the war and it explains our $13 billions national debt.

WHATEVER CRITICISM of the government for inflation must rest on post war expenditures not due to war expenditure, and the aggressive Conservatives record on that point will not stand detailed examination.

and skier-housewife Gretchen Fraser of Vancouver Wash. won championships, vaulting the United States into a probable fourth place in the team standings now topped by Sweden, Button, 18, won the men's figure-skating event and Mrs. Fraser, 28, placed first in the women's special slalom.

THE LADIES' compulsory figures were resumed today after only two of five figures were tried Tuesday. Competition was cancelled Wednesday because of mushy ice.

The press office released no point total but Miss Scott's unofficial point total was 858.4.

In second place in the official listings was Jeannette Altwegg, British champion, and in third spot came Eva Pawlik of Austria. Bridget Adams of Britain was fourth, Jirina Nekolova of Czechoslovakia, a guest of Barbara Ann at Ottawa last summer, was fifth and Gretchen Merrill, blonde pin-up girl from Boston, was sixth.

The official press office standings gave only the first six competitors.

BARBARA ANN now faces the free-skating test, considered her strongest point, and nothing but an unforeseen accident — such as a spill — could rob the petite Ice queen of the championship.

At the conclusion of the compulsory figures, Miss Scott was congratulated but said she considers herself "in" only when the official point total is known for the compulsory figures.

THE OTTAWA girl's performance dominated this seventh day of the Olympics as Switzerland forged ahead of Sweden in the race for team honors.

Turkey Recalls Moscow Envoy

ANKARA, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Turkey has recalled her ambassador from Moscow, it was learned here last night.

The diplomatic move was a "tit for tat" answer to Russia's refusal to return her ambassador to Ankara, it was learned.

The foreign office declined immediate comment on the withdrawal of Ambassador Fair Zinni Akdur from Moscow.

The Russian government recalled its ambassador, Sergei Vinogradov, in the fall of 1945. Although there have been recurring reports that he would return, Russia still is represented by a charge d'affaires here.

War Crime Trials

He did not mention that the general staff—as a unit—was acquitted by the international military tribunal in the first Nuernberg trial, from April, 1945, to October, 1946.

German lawyers for the current defendants said they intended to raise the issue of the international tribunal's decision in their opening statement.

He took up individually the cases of these 14 defendants:

LEEB — Commanded Twelfth Army in occupation of the Sudetenland and later commander-in-chief of an army group invading France.

FIELD MARSHAL HUGO SPERRLE—Commanded the Condor Legion in Spain and later Nazi Air Fleet 3, bombing from bases in France.

Field Marshal Georg von Keuchler — Commanded the Eighteenth Army and later the army group north, both in Russia.

Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz—Commanded German forces in The Netherlands, who committed suicide.

Gen. Hermann von Moth — Commanded the Fourth Panzer Army in Russia.

Gen. Hans Reinhardt—Commanded the Third Panzer Army and later an army group in Russia.

Gen. Hans Von Salmuth — Commanded the Fifteenth Army in France.

Gen. Karl Holidt — Commanded the Sixth Army in southern Russia. Later he was liaison officer to Hitler's Reichschancellory.

Admiral Otto Schniewind—Successfully operations officer, chief of the navy armament office and commander of naval battle forces in Norway.

Lt.-Gen. Karl von Bouques—A group commander in southern Russia and later commander of the remains of Army Group A in the Caucasus.

Lt.-Gen. Walter Warlimont—Deputy military envoy to Franco in Spain in 1938. Later chief of the department of national defence on the armed forces operation staff.

Lt.-Gen. Otto Wechler—Commanded army group south in Russia.

Lt.-Gen. Rudolf Lehmann—Legal counsel of the German Army.

Lt.-Gen. Hermann Reinecke—Chief of staff of the National Socialist Guidance staff of the high command.

Absent from the dock but mentioned repeatedly in Taylor's opening speech were Field Marshals Karl Rudolf Kzrd von Runstedt, Walther von Brauchitsch, and Fritz Erich von Manstein. Each was a field commander and the first two were commanders-in-chief at various times. They now are held by Britain. Taylor said he has asked for permission to indict the top most men but had been denied their custody.

NUERNBERG, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz, who surrendered to the Canadian Army in Holland in May, 1945, committed suicide in Nuernberg prison today shortly before he was to go on trial for war crimes.

The 58-year-old Wehrmacht veteran, who surrendered his forces May 5, 1947 to Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, commander of the First Canadian Corps, two days before the German surrender was signed, eluded his guards and leaped from the top tier of cells to the tiled floor of the prison rotunda.

He died in hospital shortly after.

He was the ninth suicide to die in the Nuernberg jail since Hermann Goering and other war crimes prisoners were brought here in November, 1945.

Big Seaway Vote Set for Feb. 27

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The senate agreed by unanimous consent yesterday to vote Feb. 27 on legislation authorizing the controversial St. Lawrence Seaway and power project.

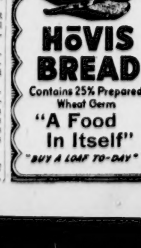

Debate on the measure, which provides that the St. Lawrence river be made navigable to ocean shipping and that a 2,200,000 horsepower hydro-electric plant be built near Massena, N.Y., began Jan. 26.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (Rep., Mass.), leader of the opposition to the measure, said he would "like to see a vote today or tomorrow," and that he thought the "long-drawn delay very unusual." He offered no objection, however.

In yesterday's debate, Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.), contended the seaway is needed to keep the nation's steel industry from starving for lack of iron ore.

Voluntary Rationing Planned in U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The United States government prepared yesterday to launch a sweeping food-rationing campaign on a voluntary basis. Representatives of 18 consumer, producer and distributor groups will meet today with Agriculture Secretary Clinton Anderson to map details of the program.

Prices Debate

servatives voted with the CCF in opposition to the speaker's decision. George Black (PC—Yukon), a former speaker, voted in favor of Mr. Fauteux's decision.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre), colorful criminal lawyer from Saskatchewan, made another plea to the government to widen the scope of the committee.

"Give to the Canadian people a lead not the promise of a committee, rendered impotent, powerless, and emasculated in advance," he said.

Other speakers in the debate included J. L. Gibson (Ind.—Comox-Alberni); C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River) and Rev. J. H. Matthews (CCF—Kootenay East).

MR. GIBSON SAID action should be taken by the government now to assist people in meeting living costs. Mr. Johnston suggested the purchasing power could be increased through higher family allowance payments and increased payments to pensioners.

Mr. Matthews said the cost-of-living problem was the most important matter before parliament and people were wondering when action was going to be taken to restore price ceilings and subsidies.

Mr. Coldwell, referring to the speaker's action Tuesday night in ruling out of order amendments that would have given the prices committee the power of recommendation, said:

"I do not think that the opposition in this house should be placed in the position of having to accept a committee without any powers of making recommendations, and one which is to fulfill a function which should be fulfilled through the machinery of the Combines Investigation Act and the additional machinery of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board."

The government now had all the power it needed to deal with the prices situation, but it was not using that power.

Mr. Diefenbaker said several different versions of government policy to deal with high prices had been announced by cabinet members.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King believed "we are going to frighten by publicity prospective wrong-doers." External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said in a Winnipeg speech the government did not wish to be vengeful in its prosecution of profiteers but it wished to draw attention to the fact that prices board regulations were still the law.

LABOR MINISTER Mitchell said in a speech that profiteers would be severely dealt with. And, said Mr. Diefenbaker with a chuckle, Mr. Mitchell added there should be an educational campaign undertaken to "outline the benefits of our way of life."

Turning to a speech made earlier in the debate by Mr. St. Laurent, Mr. Diefenbaker said the minister had ridiculed the plight of poor people in the country. John Bracken, Progressive-Conservative leader, had called for abolition of the eight-per-cent federal sales tax to lower living costs.

In reply, Mr. St. Laurent had dwelt with taxes on liquor and cigarettes, said the people would have to pay them, but said nothing about how the tax applied to food and clothing.

Mr. Diefenbaker said all opposition parties wanted action on the cost-of-living issue. Yet all they were receiving from the government was a committee that "can postpone and procrastinate."

HE ASKED whether Mr. King denied the members of the committee the right to make recommendations. This right had been granted to other committees which had probed the price field.

Parliament had been asked two years ago to put "teeth—real teeth, not false teeth" in the Combines Investigation Act but nothing had been done and the prime minister himself had said "obstacles" would be raised if an inquiry were started.

Mr. Matthews said the cost of living was something the people "can not possibly face." The government was directly and solely responsible for the problem. The government had known what would happen when prices were made free and the electorate knew where to put the blame.

He said the coal strike now in progress in Alberta and British Columbia had resulted directly from the rising cost of living.

"History tells us that Nero fiddled while Rome burned," he recalled. "Well, that gentleman had nothing on this government."

He said that if the government would call by-elections in three federal seats now vacant it soon would find out what the people wanted.

Canadian Stamp

Canada is commemmorating the royal wedding with the issue of a stamp. This bright blue four-cent model will be released on Feb. 16. Size of the stamp is 21 by 24 millimetres. One inch is 25 millimetres.

Grains Again Plunge Sharply

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Grains plunged again today at the opening on the board of trade. Heavy selling hit the pits at the opening.

Wheat started 4⅞ to 10 cents lower, corn six to eight cents lower, oats two to 3⅝ cents lower, soybeans eight cents lower, and lard $2.00 a hundred pounds lower.

The market showed little ability to rally from opening prices.

Three Teams Tied For Hockey Lead

ST. MORITZ, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Canada, Switzerland and Czechoslovakia were tied for first place in the hockey tournament held in conjunction with the Olympic Games after all three teams kept intact their unbeaten records in today's games.

Canada's R.C.A.F. Flyers handed the United States Amateur Hockey Association team a 12-3 trouncing for the American's second defeat and Switzerland downed Sweden 8-2. Czechoslovakia was idle today, after taking their fifth victory yesterday. Canada previously defeated Sweden 5-1.

Each of the three leaders now have 10 points for five victories. In the event of a tie at the conclusion of the tournament the winner will be decided by the highest quotient of goals scored over goals against. Canada, with only five goals scored against them in the tournament for 54 scored against other teams, currently holds this type of lead.

In a second-division game today Britain defeated Poland 7-3 but the result had no effect on the leaders. It was Britain's second victory against three losses and brought them into a tie with Poland who now have two victories for four losses.

Austria trounced the luckless Italian team 16-5 for the Italians' fifth defeat and Austria's first victory.

The defeat of the United States team virtually put them out of the top competition. They now have three victories against two defeats for six points, four behind the leaders.

Conciliation Board In Rail Dispute

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Establishment of a conciliation board to deal with a wage dispute between Canadian railways and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes and other transport workers (C.C.L.) was announced yesterday by Labor Minister Mitchell.

The C.B.R.E.'s 35,000 members seek a general wage increase of 35 cents an hour, the same amount asked by 125,000 employes in international unions employed by the companies. The government has appointed a labor department mediator in the case of the international bodies.

Surveyors Elect Slate of Officers

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—J. H. Ramsay of Fredericton was elected president of the Canadian Institute of Surveying today as the organization concluded its 41st annual meeting. He succeeds Arthur O. Gorman of Ottawa.

H. E. Seely of Ottawa was chosen first vice-president and W. Humphreys of Winnipeg, second vice-president. W. G. MacIlquham was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Provincial representatives elected were: Nova Scotia, R. J. Milgate, Halifax; New Brunswick, K. B. Brown, Fredericton; Prince Edward Island, V. A. MacDonald, Charlottetown; Quebec, N. Ste. Marie, Hull; Ontario, J. A. S. King, Brantford; Manitoba, G. F. G. Webber, Winnipeg; Saskatchewan, D. A. Smith, Regina; Alberta, J. H. Holloway, Edmonton; British Columbia, F. Butterfield, Victoria.

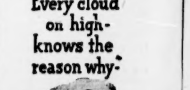

New members-at-large appointed to the institute's council were Maj. J. A. H. Church, Halifax; E. K. Phillips, Saskatoon, and J. E. R. Ross, Ottawa.

At today's closing session, delegates heard papers from Mr. Holloway, Alberta provincial director of surveys, and H. E. Beresford, Manitoba director of surveys.

Mr. Holloway, describing Alberta's new Leduc, oil field, said it was "pretty well assured" that the field eventually would supply $300,000,000 worth of oil which otherwise would have had to be imported from the United States.

City's 1947 Payroll Largest to Date

40-Hour Week, Wage Increases Are Cause

The City of Edmonton's 1947 payroll totalled $4,495,118.59, the largest in the city's history, and was $862,429.04 over the $3,632,689.55 paid civic employees in 1946, according to figures released Thursday by A. A. Campbell, city comptroller.

THE PAYROLL increase in 1947 was due to the introduction of the 40-hour week throughout the civic service, and wages increases granted to meet cost of living increases.

Edmonton's payroll in 1928 totalled $2,062,909.82 with 1,350 employes participating.

DURING 1947 there were approximately 2,000 permanent and part-time employes on the salary rolls, this being an increase of approximately 300 over the number employed in 1946.

The city faces an increase of approximately $24,000 in the levy made by the Workmen's Compensation Board under the board's accident fund. Recently the city was advised that the assessment was being increased from $1.50 to $2.00 for each $100 of payroll.

THE ESTIMATED payroll for 1948 to which the assessment is applicable is $4,200,000 for a levy of $84,000, while in 1947 the actual levy paid was $59,478.97. Increase in the accident ratio is given as the reason for the increased levy.

In 1939 the estimated payroll affected by the levy was $2,000,000, and the amount paid to board was $19,000.

No Action Bridge Traffic Ban Plan

The Council of Edmonton Chamber of Commerce on the recommendation of its traffic committee decided to take no action on a request from the Alberta Motor Transport Association urging the Chamber of Commerce to seek the withdrawal of the proposed ban on heavy vehicular traffic on the high level bridge during the peak traffic hours.

City council at a recent meeting gave second reading to a bylaw which would prohibit horse drawn wagons and heavy vehicular traffic from the bridge during the peak traffic periods between 8 and 9:30 a.m.; noon and 1:30 p.m. and 5 to 6:30 p.m.

The traffic committee's recommendation to the Council of the Chamber of Commerce was that "in view of the fact that heavy vehicles are prohibited during peak rush hours of the day only, during which time heavy vehicles could use the 105 street bridge, the committee recommends that no action be taken on the association's application to have the bylaw withdrawn.

A new member of the association, Dr. Leo Lyman, was introduced and welcomed by Dr. P. J. Kendal.

Guest Speaker

REV. WESLEY BAINBRIDGE

Tells Experiences In Juvenile Court

The Rev. Wesley Bainbridge, minister of McDougall United church, recalling experiences as a judge of the juvenile court at Calgary, this week addressed a meeting of the United Temperance Forces of Alberta, held in the Church of God.

Mr. Bainbridge said liquor and the effect of the war on many homes were contributing factors to juvenile delinquency during the last few years. He said the juvenile court was playing a big role in helping to correct many cases, and that it is the objective of this court to convert delinquent youths, not to convict them.

Chairman of the meeting was the Rev. Daniel Chugg, minister of the Church of God.

Present Facilities Inadequate

Blind Service Centre Will Fulfil Vital Need

The Northern Alberta Service Centre and Residence for the Blind will correct many of the deficiencies now existing, according to a statement issued by W. E. Milton, executive officer of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

MR. MARTIN stated that the present C.N.I.B. headquarters located in the basement of the Courthouse building are totally inadequate. He says there is a total lack of residential accommodation for single blind people who are alone and without suitable living quarters.

Many, he says, are without the normal comforts and necessities of life and their rehabilitation, consequently, is made difficult due to the basic insecurity and unsuitable surroundings.

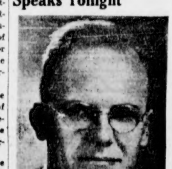

Workshop facilities, which are almost non-existent at present, are urgently needed, according to Mr. Martin. They are needed, he said, to provide sheltered employment for blind people and to provide a place where trades can be taught to these handicapped people.

PROPER CLUBROOMS and recreational space for the Edmonton Club of Blind is also urgently needed. The activities of the club, which include discussion groups, debates, card parties, dancing, and variety concerts are seriously curtailed by a lack of accommodation.

All these facilities now lacking, said Mr. Martin, will be provided in the new building. A well-rounded, comprehensive program of services to the blind and those requiring prevention-of-blindness care will be made possible.

A campaign to raise $100,000 for the erection of Service Centre and Residence for the Blind is to be launched February 16. The campaign is being conducted by a number of Edmonton service clubs and is under the chairmanship of R. M. Moore, Edmonton insurance man. More than $50,000 has already been contributed to the building fund, and the city has provided a site for its erection at 120th street and Jasper avenue at a cost of approximately $150,000.

Convicted of Theft

Old Grey Mare Wasn't There So 2 Farmers Sent to Jail

Mike Subina and Pete Kusick, Hamlin district farmers, were found guilty in supreme court Thursday by Mr. Justice Shepherd on a charge of stealing an iron grey mare, the property of Frank Trufyn, neighboring farmer. They were sentenced to serve 30 days in Fort Saskatchewan jail.

Evidence disclosed that the two accused took the mare from a common pasture and left the animal with horses owned by George Nowasiwsky. The complainant on September 7 last found his mare there, and reported the matter to R.C.M.P. officers.

By a coincidence, the accused Kusick was in the R.C.M.P. detachment at Smoky Lake when the complaint was received, and later he approached the complainant, seeking a settlement of the case. On that occasion the accused said that horses were cheap, and it was not worth going to court with the case. These overtures were not accepted by the plaintiff.

Mr. Trufyn told the court that when he found the mare her mane had been cut, and her tail docked. He established identity through two markings, one on the forehead, the other on a hind hock. He also told the court the animal answered readily to her name, "Dolly."

BANK CLEARINGS

Bank clearings through the Edmonton Clearing House for the week ended Feb. 5, totalled $16,-612,070. Clearings for the same week last year amounted to $11,-120,527.

Discussions Continue

Agreement on 250 Homes For City Still Not Reached

Discussion of terms of an agreement between The City of Edmonton and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation Ltd., under which the company would erect 250 low-rental homes in Edmonton were continuing between the city commissioners and W. R. Hignett, Winnipeg, assistant supervisor for the corporation, prairie region.

No decision has been reached on the terms of the agreement, and conversations will be resumed on Friday. Thursday Mr. Hignett will meet with local contractors to discuss the integrated 1948 housing program for the city. At this meeting it is expected that the number of homes to be erected under the integrated plan will be determined.

Recently city council requested the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to erect 250 homes here, but added a rider to the request that the $1,279 estimated cost of providing land, services and improvements be included in the construction costs of each housing unit.

It is understood the Crown company is opposed to any increase in these costs above the $600 stipulated in the original proposal to the city, and conversations between its representative and the city commissioners now centre on the dropping of certain improvements such as hard surfacing, and paving of the streets on which the homes are to be erected.

Operate in Blizzard Conditions at Wainwright Military Camp

Army Reservists Getting Realistic Winter Tests

Half-way through the first week of Reserve Force winter training at Wainwright Military Camp men of British Columbia and Alberta units taking part in Exercise Husky II are getting well on into the swing of cold weather manoeuvres. Tanks, artillery and infantry operating in the present biting blizzard conditions are now undergoing real tests of open country schemes.

DESPITE the biting north wind and hard driving snow which has followed two days of mildest weather, the reservists seem to be enjoying the severity of winter training. Warmly clad and constantly on the move, infantry on skis and snowshoes are rapidly conditioning themselves to the rigorous bush country living. Tank men and artillery gunners handling bitterly cooled armoured vehicles and guns, are working in the open in preparation for infantry cum tank schemes to be held before the closing of camp.

Reserve Force officers and men have gathered at Wainwright Military Camp from towns in the Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Calgary and Edmonton area as well as points in British Columbia such as Prince Rupert, Trail and the Okanangan Valley area for intensive "Dry-Cold" training.

ABOUT 350 all ranks are taking part in Western Command's second annual winter camp which is believed to be the largest of its kind in the Dominion. Reserve Force officers and instructors, working with Active Force personnel are carrying out practical training in the use of military equipment including armoured vehicles, medium and field artillery, bren carriers, weapons and wireless communications on their 96,000 acre training area.

Lt.-Col. D. K. Robertson of Calgary, commanding officer of the Calgary Highlanders, is in command of the two-week camp and it is expected that during the second week about fifty additional personnel will arrive to take part in the second week of the training.

ACTIVE FORCE administrative and training officers from Alberta Reserve Force units giving instruction in armour, artillery and infantry corps subjects are under the supervision of Major A. C. Tate, Moose Jaw staff officer of H.Q. Western Command, who is acting as Chief Staff officer of the camp.

Lt. Bruno Engler, internationally famous Banff ski instructor and member of the Calgary Highlanders Mountain Company, is in charge of ski training. Cross-country and down-hill ski classes, as well as the use of snowshoes is being taught to reservists by experts who are members of Reserve Force units.

WHILE A LARGE portion of the two weeks' training program will be devoted to various forms of ski and snowshoe training, instruction is being carried out in the cold weather use of weapons and vehicles. Medium and field artillery shoots, range firing of mortars, machine guns, rifles, anti-tank guns and other weapons are being held daily in preparation for combined schemes. One important subject being taught to all men is the medical precaution and protection to be taken in cold weather living.

Every man has been issued with winter kit including full ski equipment, snowshoes, parkas, moccasins, heavy logger shirts, goggles, ski mitts and liner as well as other equipment. In the case of clothing several types are being worn by the men in order to test suitability for military use.

EVERYTHING possible has been done to provide maximum comfort for the troops in camp. Huts and buildings of the former prisoner of war camp provides accommodation and dining facilities as well as canteens, stores and lecture rooms, the camp moving picture house, and motor transport garages. During off duty hours the canteen which is run by the men themselves is most popular and does a land office business in soft drinks, sandwiches, coffee and other extras.

Alberta Gas for Alberta

According to the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Walla Walla and Vancouver would like to have Alberta natural gas. This idea meets with the approval of D. A. Croll, a Toronto member of the House of Commons, provided that the United States in return releases American gas for the benefit of Ontario's industries. If such a deal were made it would be satisfactory to everyone concerned except the people of Alberta. The industries of Ontario would obtain urgently needed fuel, while industries which might be developed in Alberta would be established in Washington and Oregon.

Ontario has low freight rates, Alberta high freight rates, with the result that this province is subjected to a high tariff on both imports and exports. The farming and ranching communities are not permitted to sell their live stock in the American market; it would increase the price of meat in the central provinces. Alberta pays heavy tribute to Ontario, but it is not a dependency of that province.

Natural gas may well be Alberta's greatest asset. The chemical uses to which it can be put are steadily increasing. Many Alberta industries are based on it. Many more will be attracted to Alberta because of it. It is said to be available for domestic use to three-eighths of our people. Its dollars and cents value is steadily rising.

While it is true that substantial reserves have been developed, and while it is hoped that more will be proven, all of it can eventually be used in the development of this province. To permit it to be exported for the benefit of foreign interests would be tragic.

Edmonton Grows

One of the sure indications of sound community growth is that afforded by merchants when they increase their facilities for serving the public.

That is why the announcement by the Hudson's Bay Company that an additional storey will be added to their retail premises at a cost of $500,000 should be hailed by Edmonton people as a welcome expression of confidence in the economic future of this district.

Population figures may swell and shrink, within limits, without offering conclusive proof of substantial and lasting civic growth. Even those occasional outbreaks of community exuberance which occur in one form or another at intervals may be based on wishful thinking.

But the considered judgment of successful and experienced merchants who are willing to spend good money on the expansion of their plants can be accepted as a sober and certain sign of solid progress.

There Are Other Fuels

Operators of Nova Scotia coal mines say that if miners' wages go up the price of coal will also have to go up. Operators in the Alberta-British Columbia field say the same thing.

That does not prove that the miners in either field are getting as much as they need to properly support their families, or as much as they should get in consideration of all the conditions under which they work. But it does clear away uncertainty and disclose the real position of the coal-producing industry. That industry cannot, the operators say, "absorb" increased costs of operating the mines; and if costs are hoisted the consumer will have to foot the bill.

Whether the consumer will do so is a question which both operators and miners in the western field are bound to ask themselves. Instead, he might stop using coal. Many thousands of former coal-users in Alberta have done that, and are now burning natural gas. Thousands more at the coast and on the prairies have also stopped using coal and put in oil-heating units.

What cannot be ignored is that coal is no longer the only heating fuel obtainable throughout the west, as it was some years ago. Over a very large part of this area the price now decides whether the consumer will burn coal or something else.

Canada and Europe

Canada's ambassador to the United States, Mr. Hume Wrong, told a New York audience that the Dominion is "deeply pledged to the fulfilment of the general purposes of the European recovery program" and will continue to contribute to this recovery.

This pledge that Canada has given to further assist in the restoration of European countries has taken the form of hundreds of millions of dollars which the Dominion has already staked on that recovery. Unless those countries regain the ability to pay this money will have to be written off as a total loss. That it will all come back nobody supposes.

Mr. Wrong pointed out that Canada has led the way thus far in extending help to the oversea peoples. In relation to its resources it has staked a good deal more than the United States. Which is to say that no outside country in the world has done as much as this Dominion, population and wealth taken into account.

This is something about which Canadians have shown no disposition to boast. They said little about it in fact—perhaps didn't realize it—until some United States publications and public men generously drew attention to the fact. This kindly recognition on the part of our neighbors is appreciated by the people of the Dominion. It is a friendly pat on the back which we shall not forget.

"Called"

When Russia protested against the presence of United States warships in Italian waters, the Government of Italy rather pointedly told Moscow to mind its own business. And followed up by making a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with Washington.

Italy would not, of course, have dared to rebuff the Kremlin in these forthright terms without United States backing. The Moscow protest was in point of fact addressed to the latter country. But the immediate reply was made at Rome, thus emphasizing the position of Italy as a sovereign state, with the right to welcome the ships of a friendly power if it saw fit to do so.

It can be surmised that when Mr. Molotov lodged his complaint he did so with tongue in cheek. For no one knows better that Italy is as well entitled to allow U.S. ships th its harbors as Yugoslavia or Rumania is to allow Russian troops within its borders. The Soviet foreign secretary thus got the answer he probably expected. Quite obviously he was asking for a show-down. He would have felt something like contempt for both Italy and the United States if his protest had not been rejected.

The Red Army will not attack Italy because of this rebuff, nor are international relations likely to be made worse. Rather the contrary. Mr. Molotov is a realist. He does not want to precipitate war. What he wants to do is to expand Russia's sphere of influence — and domination — without incurring the cost and risk of conflict. And he has pursued that policy with signal success, thanks to the western powers being more willing to concede than to draw the line. He will have more respect for these powers, and perhaps proceed more cautiously, because the "no interference" sign has been posted at the border of Italy.

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR HUSBAND

by Webster

Libel and Politics

By Harold L. Weir

Frankly, ladies and gents, I am not edified by the report that a fund may be raised in the East to send Jack Diefenbaker to Edmonton to defend Jack Kent Cooke, Harold Dingman and Dr. Charlotte Whitton in the conspiracy to libel action now pending against them in the supreme court of this province.

I think the move smells quite strongly of something or other and that what it smells of is a smoldering attempt to inject politics into the Canadian processes of law.

WEIR

Beyond any shadow of doubt, these defendants are entitled to adequate, experienced and talented legal counsel. They are entitled to an absolutely impartial trial. And, since the Alberta judiciary is of high and unapproachable integrity, they will doubtless get the latter.

They are entitled to all the protection of the law in the matter of police searches into the files of New Liberty, expeditions which appear from this distance to be a trifle high-handed.

But when some jokers in the East start talking about sending one of Canada's most eminent politicians out here to take part in the legal fracas, one holds one's nose and wonders.

Very Able

I have no quarrel, mind you, with the legal acumen of Jack Diefenbaker. I have no quarrel with him at all. I went to school with him one time and I both like and admire him.

He is honest, sincere and exceedingly able.

But for the greater part of his life he has been noted and is still noted as a politician rather than a lawyer. And no matter how good a lawyer he may be, the political connotation will follow him wherever he goes. All his activities have an inescapable political context.

I don't know exactly how long he actually practised law. I believe he is a first class lawyer. But he came back from overseas in 1917 in such lamentable physical shape that the doctors gave him only a few weeks to live.

Nevertheless, by dint of remarkable courage and faith and will, he came back into active life and has made a good and valuable contribution to the welfare of the Canadian people.

He came back from overseas, remember, in 1917. By 1925 he was sufficiently adept in politics to run for the House of Commons in a Saskatchewan seat. His political activities were wide and entensive enough to make him the leader of the Conservative party in Saskatchewan in 1937. In 1940 and again in 1945, he was elected to the Commons.

By virtue of his unusual ability and undoubted integrity, he occupies a distinguished place of leadership in the Progressive Conservative party. Should that party ever come into power he will be a noted and successful cabinet minister.

Political Angle

What I am trying to show and what I think is amply shown, is that Jack Diefenbaker is primarily and preeminently a politician, in the best sense of that word. If I were put to it, I wouldn't hesitate to call him a statesman—although that word is a sort of accolade that should be handed out with as much discrimination as a university should exercise in awarding honorary doctorates.

As I say, he is probably a first rate lawyer. I know nothing to the contrary. But there are many lawyers in Canada quite as eminent and undoubtedly a good deal better because of longer careers at the bar uninterrupted by political adventures.

What, then, is the significance of this agitation in the East to drag him into this conspiracy trial with the plain inference that he is the only possible lawyer who can save these three defendants from crucifixion at the hands of the savage Albertans?

I would say, offhand, that Mr. Diefenbaker's proposed interjection into this trial is an attempt by somebody to make political capital of it.

Wouldn't you?

Not in the Courts

This conspiracy trial may have powerful political implications. In my innocency I wouldn't know. Perhaps vast political issues hinge on the fate of these three defendants. I wouldn't know that either.

In my inherent simplicity I can only perceive one thing and that is that if a political battle is going to be waged over the circumstances of and surrounding this case, that battle very definitely shouldn't be dragged into the processes of Canadian law.

Let's keep the courts out of it.

Mr. Diefenbaker's soul may burn fiercely for the survival of pure justice. Candidly, I do not believe he would lend himself to any cheap political trick.

But the fact remains that he is a spokesman for a powerful political party and he cannot rid himself of that role even during a projected interval of crusading for freedom in the barbarous fastnesses of this province.

No matter what legislation, cracknot or otherwise, may be contemplated or enacted in Ottawa to maintain that nebulous liberty known as the "freedom of the press", the fact is that our Canadian courts and the untrammelled operation of those courts are the final and most effective bulwarks of Canadian freedom of any brand.

I am not suggesting that the defendants to these actions or their present counsel are parties to any plot to make a political issue of their trial. But there is a strong and obvious possibility that politics might have moved in on them. Politics sometimes does invade such things.

Mr. Diefenbaker should stay at home. The political parties should keep their hands off.

And that goes for every political party—every last one of them.

Smiles

"Could you pay for an operation if I thought one was necessary?"

"Would you think one was necessary if I couldn't pay for it?"

One of John's best friends had died, so he called on the widow to express his sympathy.

"Jim and I were friends," he said. "Isn't there something I could have as a memento of him?"

She raised her velvety brown eyes, which a few seconds before had been wet with tears.

"How would I do?" she murmured.

Smiley Drove

By Paul Gallico

Unless the citizenry is alerted, there may be a very serious miscarriage of justice in Los Angeles, two weeks from today as a matter of fact, when Mr. Allen Jenkins, the moving picture actor, will go on trial on a charge of drunken driving.

It is a mockery of justice, and ridiculous on the face of it to try Mr. Jenkins when he has already testified that it was not he, but his cat who was driving the car at the time of the accident.

Ordinarily, I hesitate to mix into the law business, or give anybody advice, or attack the courts, since that can get you hauled up on a contempt charge, but in this instance, it just so happens that I know a great deal about cats, and they are lousy drivers, always swishing their tails, or taking their hands off the wheel to wash at inopportune moments, or abandoning the whole works to go after a mouse or a rabbit on the side of the road.

Foolish

Mr. Jenkins was foolish perhaps to let his cat drive, but then, if the cat was regularly licensed and sober, which it seems Mr. Jenkins was not, on the face of it he would have seemed to have shown good sense. The cat might be charged with reckless or careless driving, but to try to pin a rap on Mr. Jenkins for chauffering while oiled seems to be to be pretty malicious. There are some sinister forces at work here.

You will say I am interesting myself in this case because it was a calico cat involved, which is so close to Gallico that I might be accused practically of nepotism and favoring a relative, but I want to assure you that I am acquainted with none of the parties to this unfortunate incident, and merely wish to see justice done.

It came to my attention through a picture published in the papers last Monday, showing actor Jenkins incarcerated in the West Los Angeles sneezer, sitting on a chair behind bars with Smiley, his pet calico cat, cuddled in his arms. Overlying his broad features was a look of understandable bewilderment. You might say that he looked woofled, and then again you might interpret it as a look of pure surprise at the odd turn events had taken.

He was arrested and tossed into durance vile on charges of driving while drunk and colliding with, of all things, a squad car. Hailed before the bar of justice, Mr. Jenkins is quoted as giving his evidence, clearly and truthfully. He said, "The cat was driving. I was just along for the ride."

Nevertheless, he and not the cat, was handed a ball rap of $150 on his plea of guilty, and jury trial was set for Feb. 16.

No Denial

You will notice that Mr. Jenkins in his testimony did not deny that he might have been a bit bubbled. He merely said it seems to me rightly so, disclosed responsibility for the collision with the squad car because not he, but Smiley the cat was at the wheel of the car and driving at the time of the accident. Also, if I were Mr. Jenkins' lawyer, I would certainly ask some pertinent questions as to what the squad car was doing there at that moment, and when the cops saw it was a cat driving, why didn't they look out?

Jenkins is a sportsman. He never suggested that the cat might have been a little steeped himself. I will give out that the judge in the case, I mean I just happen to know about these things because I once had a Chinchilla cat named Chinny, who used to often would break into his piggy bank, take all the dough, stay out all night, visiting all the grills, and show up the next morning, roaring. It was a weakness and we understood it. But I am keeping my eye on that Los Angeles trial.

Bulletin Readers Say:

Entertainment

Editor, Bulletin—Do you ever get tired listening to your radio? Well, if you do, then you have good reason to.

My opinion is that radio advertising today has got a little out of hand and is slightly overdone. Every sponsored program, as we know today, has to advertise in order to let the public know what they are selling and to boost their sales. I have no objections as far as straight advertising goes, but when they begin singing songs regarding the product advertised and taking up approximately six minutes from a 15-minute program, it is carrying it a little too far. Don't you think so? Less advertising and more entertainment.

Justice Not Done

Editor, Bulletin, — The Second World War began with the rape of Poland from the East and the West. Further, Finland was attacked in an unprovoked fashion as any of Hitler's victims in Western Europe. Yet none of the generals taking part in the rape of Poland or the threatened rape of Finland were brought to justice in the Nuernberg trials. Not only were they not brought to justice, but they were allowed to sit in judgment of their erstwhile partners in crime. They were invited to do justice for only one reason—because they were the victors. For this reason alone the Nuernberg trials stands discredited as a tribunal of victors.

From behind the barbed wire of German concentration camps people are streaming forth to new havens of safety and to a new future in Canada, in the U.S.A., and elsewhere. From Cyprus 16,000 Jews are due to go to Palestine to build a new home. From the concentration camps in Russia people are carried to their graves.

When the stories of Russian concentration camps are dismissed as "smear technique" one unknowingly repeats the standard answer that fascists once gave with regard to their anti-Jewish pogroms.

Radio Noise

Editor, Bulletin—We wonder if a number of radio-owners have forgotten that there is a law governing the use or abuse of the radio. My radio is for my use and not a nuisance to the use of the street nor for the abuse of my neighbor. I would be ashamed to be considered a "public nuisance" and so I turn it down so that it cannot be heard outside of its own four walls.

At 10:15, this over, I prepare for bed and so at 10:30 I am nicely settled. Everything is nice and quiet but just then my neighbor turns on their radio, full blast, and this keeps up till well after 11 p.m. Then last as a variety show number of the family sleeping in the back bedroom carries on a long distance conversation with a prospective sleeping in the front. It must be rather loud and so I hear every word of it. The member of the family does not seem to mind this in the least which is evidenced by the continuous snoring as I awake during the night whole show and through the rest of the night. Even in the day time some overdo it and I cannot help but let it grind by the hour. It is not music, it is just noise.

I trust that this family and many others will read this and tomorrow night if they have it on after 10 p.m. they will tune it away down. If you are deaf your neighbor is not to blame. Law should not be a factor between neighbors but a good stiff fine might be useful. Just try to be more thoughtful of your neighbor and don't be a "public nuisance."

The Coming Russian Terror

By Stanislaw Mikolajczyk

Former Prime Minister of Poland and President of the Polish Peasant Party

In this installment Stanislaw Mikolajczyk warns the democracies that the Soviet Union is out to rule the world and says a Russian colonel told him that the Red Army had military plans to take Europe in less than two weeks.—EDITOR.

Installment XXVIII

Russia declared war on the democracies of the world last April. The formal military phases of that war have not as yet appeared. They will not have to be used, if the secret Russian forces which are in every democratic country can win Russia's economic and political battles.

IF THE RED ARMY'S civilian fighting forces have swirled through the streets of France, Italy Greece and other countries fail to achieve their primary objectives —strife, chaos and the "incident" that would enable the Red Army to flood over Europe—they will try again. Recently those forces lost a battle, they did not lose a war. The immense machinery remains in motion.

As is its traditional plight, Poland felt the first repercussions of the new war.

In April, 1947, the Communist head of the Polish Security Police, the NKVD leader Stanislaw Radkiewicz, called a hurried meeting of province and district Communist leaders in Lodz and made formal announcements of the forthcoming conflict.

UNTIL THE DAY Radkiewicz spoke at Lodz it had been a criminal offense for a Pole to mention the possibility of a World War III. Thereafter, the 100,000,000 persons living behind the Iron Curtain—as well as Russia's 180,000,000—began to be primed mentally for the war and to be encouraged to speak of it.

"There will be a war with the West," Radkiewicz told the assembled Polish and Red leaders. "This war will be won by the U.S.S.R. Of that there must be no doubt. The important thing at the start is to indoctrinate the people.

"They must be told, first, that American capitalists want to rule the world. They must be told that these capitalists fear the economic collapse of the United States, and in order to avert that catastrophe they have forced their government into a policy of world-wide imperialism so that a war will result.

"IN POLAND WE MUST quickly prepare for that war by liquidating the remnants of independent thought and action. We have been entirely too liberal inside Poland. We must hasten Communization of the country. We must liquidate dissident factions in the Socialist Party and, of course, complete the extinction of the Polish Peasant Party."

The Communist press of Poland immediately opened a campaign against "American imperialism." On May 1, Wladislaw Gomulka, vice premier, announced that the "time is ripe" for the merging of the Socialist and Communist parties. Joint meetings were immediately held throughout Poland and all rank and file Socialists who opposed the merger in these meetings were immediately arrested. The remaining independence of the Socialist party disappeared immediately from Poland.

The days of the Polish Peasant Party had, of course, been long since numbered. Now 80 per cent of our offices and headquarters through the country were taken from us by "Housing Commissions." We occupied six floors of a Warsaw building. The Communists took the first three floors, stationed Security Police at each of our meetings and ordered us to wind up our affairs and clear out in two weeks.

WE HAD BEEN FORBIDDEN to hold open meetings long before. We had been permitted to meet in our headquarters through the country. But when the buildings were seized and we attempted to meet in private homes, this was declared a "subversive action" and was stopped.

Members of the provincial executive committees of the Polish Peasant Party were arrested and jailed if they refused to sign declarations that the party work in those areas was being discontinued. Those in prison soon read the newspapers that the party work had been discontinued—and the printed declarations carried their forged signatures!

IN WARSAW, we discovered that the director of the co-operative which printed our newspaper Gazeta Ludowa had been forced to become a Communist because the Security Police were holding his nephew and threatening to shoot him. The harassed man began to sabotage the distribution of our paper. We dismissed him; the Security Police promptly re-instated him.

Our party was "legal;" our meetings "illegal," and anyone holding a membership card was subject to arrest, the police notified us.

There were many signs in Poland that the decision to make war on the free world was gaining pace. Travelers from Russia kept us informed about the tempo within that country, and daily we watched the moulding of Poland into a Soviet state which would be forced to aid in that conflict.

Perhaps the most vivid of the evidence was supplied by a Russian colonel whom I cannot name by name. I can only assure the reader that he does exist, that he did hold for me a certain affection, and that he never believed I would manage to get out of Poland to make this report.

"I'VE JUST RETURNED from the U.S.S.R.," he told me just before I escaped. "The preparation for the war is everywhere. The people are now as ready for it as they were ready for Hitler's attack.

"Molotov is the new head of the war party. His picture now is displayed on the same level with that of Stalin. Pictures of the victorious Czarist Generals Suvorov and Kutuzov are displayed everywhere through the country.

"I don't know whether our scientists have as yet been able to produce atom bombs, but we have made great strides with rocket developments. We are training special units for service in each country of Europe. The units of instructors for France, Italy, and Germany, are ready and so is the one for Spain. We are preparing others, of course, for the South American countries—where we have made considerable gains of late.

"Personally I am not as confident about the economic collapse of the United States as the leaders are, but I agree that Great Britain is already in that collapse. Our men prepare the way for us in France and Italy, and they hope to bring about changes in the government there so that the Red Army will not be forced to march in. But, even if they fail, there are plans for the Army to move into those lands.

"THE AMERICAN, British and French occupation forces in Germany will offer a token resistance but they will naturally be liquidated. We have military plans to take Europe in less than a fortnight.

"Great Britain will remain neutral. It cannot endure another rocket war. The United States will declare war, but what does that matter? It is not prepared. It can have no offshore bases from which to attack the continent. We do not rule out the possibility of a negotiated peace with America."

By October 8, I was at last convinced—after 2½ years of a hopeless fight—that it was useless to try to continue the activities of the Polish Peasant Party. I presided over our last official meeting of the executive committee in Warsaw on that day, and we voted to suspend our efforts.

Our activities thereforth, we decided, would be confined to our 27 members of parliament the only persons who could still register dignant, open protests because we were protected against arrest by parliamentary rule.

WE MADE PLANS for a conference of our M.P.'s on October 20 to map out a plan of action which we would follow when Parliament reconvened later that month.

But on October 18 I was informed secretly, from a source I knew and could trust, that the Communists would introduce a bill at the opening of Parliament which would deprive the three leaders of the Polish Peasant Party—Stefan Korbonski, Wincenty Bryja and myself —of our immunity to arrest. We were to be arrested, "tried" and shot. The verdict was already sealed. The death sentence had already been handed down by the Military Tribunal.

Thus the last prop was kicked from under the only democratic political force left in Poland—our right to speak in Parliament. We had been robbed in the elections, and now what was left of us would be silenced completely.

Our deaths could only have produced demonstrations against the Government, which would have enabled the Security Police to do what they have longed to do—conduct a mass murder of independent-minded Poles and thus tighten the bonds of their control of the country.

SO FROM THE MOMENT I learned I would be arrested—a report which I took care to confirm by two other secret sources —I began making my plans to escape.

I did escape . . . to tell this story and to sound this alarm to the free peoples of the world who today —whether they realize it or not— are in grave peril from a determined enemy of mankind who is out to rule the world and crush from the human race its God-given rights.

THE END

Tomorrow Mr. Mikolajczyk begins the thrilling account of his escape from his native land to meet death by the Russians in the first of three special articles.

Adults, Children Perish in Fire

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Feb 5.—(CP)—Bodies of three adults and two children burned to death in a fire that gutted four two-storey buildings and a number of barrack rooms in Port of Spain slum district yesterday were recovered last night by firemen.

At least 10 other persons, mostly children, are missing persons. It had not been definitely established how many had been trapped by the blaze.

The fire was believed to have started in a leather goods shop. The blaze, apparently fed by some highly inflammable substance, engulfed the entire area within a few minutes. Residents began streaming from nearby buildings.

Former Banker Dead

TORONTO, Feb. 5.—(CP)—John Dickson Lewis, 84, retired bank manager who was associated with the Imperial Bank of Canada for 40 years, died in hospital yesterday. He was born at Corunna, Ont., and lived for some years in Winnipeg.

Food Shortages Biggest Headache

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 5.—(CP)—Food shortages continue to be the world's most acute economic headache, the United Nations was told yesterday in a bulky world survey submitted by its department of economic affairs.

The report was submitted while the Security Council was busy with a newer and more exciting problem, the disorders in Kashmir, on which India and Pakistan are making conflicting claims for U.N. intervention leading to a decision of Kashmir's status.

The Economic and Social Council witnessed a typical clash in which Soviet Delegate A. A. Arutiunian and Britain's H. M. Phillips clashed bitterly and Canada's delegate, George F. Davidson, struggled to keep debate on a business level.

The economic survey, which may be debated later in the Economic and Social Council, was an exhaustive report on the state of the world outside the Soviet orbit.

It lacked any detailed information on Russia and had little on her associated countries.

Otherwise the report indicated that:

1. Food shortages continue to be the world's top economic problem.

2. The United States is the only major power exporting more than it is importing.

3. Inflationary price movements "threaten to destroy progress al ready achieved" in European recovery.

4. Concerted national action is needed to keep down prices of goods going into foreign trade.

The study revealed what is already well known in Canada and elsewhere, that one of the major bars to world recovery is the "dollar crisis," and commented at length on its cause.

Roll-Back Price Some Fertilizers

OTTAWA, Feb 5.—(CP)—Following reimposition of price ceilings on basic chemical ingredients of compound fertilizers, a roll-back in prices of certain types of fertilizers was announced by the prices board yesterday.

The ceilings were reimposed by individual directives to manufacturers and while there will be no formal ceiling on compound fertilizers, agreement on prices has been reached with the companies concerned.

The new price of commonly-used fertilizer compounds will average about eight per cent higher than the prices prevailing last spring. Since then, the cost of materials imported from the United States has increased and fertilizer subsidies have been discontinued.

VICTORIA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Mrs. Martha Doughty, 64, well known in women's organizations in Lethbridge, died here Tuesday. Born in Shropshire, Eng., she came here last April. Two sons, Norman, Victoria, and Urban, Longview, Alta., survive. Burial will be made here Friday.

A zoo elephant has been known to eat 200 pounds of hay a day.

For Customer-Members

Co-op. Retail Store Expands, Modernizes

Facilities and conveniences for customers and for customer-members of the Edmonton Co-operative Ltd., are being expanded and modernized to meet present-day competitive marketing conditions, J. D. McOrmond, manager of the co-operative association's retail store at 9812 101A avenue announced on Thursday.

THE STORE is carried on under the well-known Rochdale co-operative principles, brought up to date. Under this plan of co-operative retail enterprise, all surpluses built up from profits and other operations are to customers on a patronage basis, Mr. McOrmond explained.

A customer may become a member of the co-op and share in the benefits, either by purchase of a share, whereupon he immediately starts to get his due proportion of the surpluses, or by application for membership, in the latter case he starts to share in surpluses as soon as his trade equals the cost of a membership share.

Any customer-member of the association whose year's business is more than $100, comes under the terms of a co-operative group insurance. The amount of the insurance is based on the total of purchases and is on a sliding scale, regulated by the age of the applicant.

AN UNMARRIED member 40 years and less in age is insured for 100 per cent of the amount of his purchases, while an unmarried member in the same age group gets insurance to the value of 90 per cent of his total purchases, but his or her spouse is also insured for 50 per cent of the amount of purchase.

The percentage of sales which may be computed as the total value of the insurance grows less as the member advances in age, with a married member more than 60 years of age being insured for 20 per cent of purchases.

Train Derailment Injures C.P. Fireman

NORTH BAY, Ont., Feb. 5.—(CP)—Eighteen cars of a Canadian Pacific railway freight train were derailed shortly before noon yesterday at Musk, 18 miles west of Chapleau. C.P.R. officials announced here.

One crew member, Fireman E. Gilbert, was injured slightly.

Both eastbound and westbound trans-continental passenger trains have been delayed since the derailment. C.P.R. officials said tracks would be cleared about 1 a.m. (E.S.T.) Thursday. Cause of the accident is being investigated.

Arrest May Solve Mystery of Fires

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Feb 5.—(CP)—Provincial police wound up months of extensive investigation when they arrested John Robert William Pickard, 25-year-old employe of the Essondale Colony farm, and charged him with setting a fire Dec. 10, 1946, taking the life of one man and causing $100,000 damage.

Pickard appeared in Maillardville, B.C., police court Tuesday and was remanded without plea for a week.

Police believe his arrest may solve the epidemic of 16 fires which have plagued the government-operated colony farm and caused $400,000 damage in the last year.

Pickard worked at Medicine Hat, Alta., before coming to the coast.

Bonus Payment To Beet Growers

CHATHAM, Ont., Feb. 5.—(CP)—A bonus payment to be made to Ontario sugar beet growers in the next few months will bring the total value of the 1947 sugar beet crop to "well over $2,000,000" officials of the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company announced yesterday.

Three payments already made to growers totalled more than $1,000,000, company officials said.

Sugar production last year was 39,324,600 pounds, compared with 70,000,000 for 1946, company statistics showed.

Who Said This Was a "Dream"?

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Louis Mott had a dream. And what a dream!

Japanese machine-gunners were after him. Ack-Ack-Ack-Ack-Ack. They got him. Mott was dead. Or so he dreamed.

In escaping from his dream, Mott leaped out of the window of his fourth-floor hotel room, crashed through a skylight, and landed right on a sofa in the lobby below. The hospital today said he had chest and head injuries.

Russian Charges Clearly False

TEHRAN, Feb. 5. —(Reuters)— George Allen, United States ambassador to Iran, commenting on a Soviet note protesting the activities of the United States military mission in Iran, last night said Russia's allegations were "so clearly false they do not require detailed consideration."

Allen made it clear he thought the note was an attempt to exert influence concerning the $10,000,000 loan for the purchase of arms from the United States, which is now before the Iranian parliament. He added that United States advisers will not remain in Persia any longer than the Iranian government desires.

SPORTS

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

UP to Wednesday night, two perfect records had been compiled in the annual bonspiel. George McLaughlin of the Royal Club held one of them—nine wins in a row—and the other belonged to Bill Nisbet of the Thistle.

Nothing seems to break right for the Thistle skipper, who usually contrives to secure a share of the spoils from Edmonton bonspiels. And so up to last night, Bill hadn't anything on the credit side after eight starts.

Alex Hudson, Sr., of Alberta Avenue, is all for calling a halt to 13-end games. Eight of the extra sessions turned up yesterday and Alex managed to get tangled up in two. He won 13-11 over C. L. Race (Granite) in the Challenge on the noon draw, but lost 12-11 to W.O. Antrim of Mannville in a 6 o'clock "bargain" attraction. Hudson has been in four 13-enders so far and has converted three into wins.

It was a coincidence that of the three 13-enders on the 9 a.m. draw Wednesday, two were at the Royal rink — and on adjoining sheets. While Fred Braithwaite, Dewberry, was beating Arch Murgotroyd of Innisfail, 11-10 on sheet 5, H. Trudgeon of Edmonton Club was giving the business to W. Maher of Amisk, 12-11 on sheet 6.

Gordon Brinkworth Remembers

GORDON BRINKWORTH, a regular customer for Edmonton bonspiels from Jasper, is at Guelph, Ont. A wire received by Secretary Jim McCool from Gordon yesterday, conveyed best wishes for the bonspiel, "which I have enjoyed attending so many years", and included "kind regards to all friends and fellow curlers".

Stan Yakabuski of Tofied is back again, but this time has Ray Coatta, another "regular" playing third rocks. Bob McClymont is at second and Andy McCullie leading.

Over 400 curlers attended the buffet lunch served in the Macdonald from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. yesterday. This innovation took the place of the usual annual banquet.

The early draw this morning had several possibilities, including a clash between the unbeaten George McLaughlin and Don Butt's fast travelling squad from Edmonton. Don had lost only one game, Johnny Glasgow of the Royal pushing the Butts out of the Challenge on the noon draw.

First Baseball "Press"

MESSRS. John Ducey and John Beatty had several baseball tidbits to pass along yesterday at their first press and radio conference held in the new league offices. The two Johns are to be congratulated on their up-to-the-minute handling of ball news.

Bob Dill, who had been expected to coach Frank Wolfe's Edmonton Motors Cubs, has been signed by New York Yankee chain and will not be available. Frank Crespi, second baseman for St. Louis Cards in 1943 and Bill De Carlo, a catcher from California are "on the hook." The latter was recommended by Bob Clements.

President Henry Roche is calling a Big Four League meeting for the first week in March. Definite word from Woody Bell, with U.S. Army Yanks here in 1945 and now in Cuba, is expected any day now.

Sidetrack Leafs 6-4

Canadian "B" Midgets Take Playoff Opener

Canadians "B" soared to within one game of the City Midget Hockey League championship last night when they squeezed out a narrow 6-4 decision over Maple Leafs in the first match of a best-of-three final series at the 120 avenue sheet.

Both clubs flashed typical playoff performances, but during the 60 minutes the scrappy Canadians had that extra bit of polish and fight for the nod.

CANADIANS HELD a slight upper-hand in the opening stanza, emerging with a 3-2 edge. The sandwich canto resulted in a 1-1 stalemate, and Canucks walked off with the honors by outscoring Leafs 2-1 in the final.

Pete Diakur, who notched what proved to be the clinching tally in the last session, sparked the B's attack with two goals. Bill Kirstine, Mike Hirst, Bill McAvoy and Don Fraser rounded singletons for the victors. Hirst also was the leading play-maker, setting-up plays for the first three Canadian goals.

CHARLIE KINSMAN, Clarence Gehlert, Bud Stewart and Orville Berchby were marksmen for the losers.

It was Bill Kirstine, teaming with Hirst, who started the Canadian ball rolling early in the initial stanza. Charlie Kinsman got that one back for Leafs on a solo dash, but Canucks came right back on goals by McAvoy and Fraser. Clarence Gelbert put Leafs squarely in the fray with a marker before the breather.

MAPLE LEAFS knotted the count at 3-3 when Stewart bulged the hemp in the sandwich session, but Diakur slipped through for one before the period ended.

Diakur and Hirst tallied for Canadians, while Berchby notched one for Leafs in the hectic final.

The two clubs will be at it again Friday night in the second game of the series.

Leaf Juniors Meet South Side Tonight

Jimmy Graham's South Siders and Maple Leafs will provide the City Junior Hockey League action at the Edmonton arena tonight in the second match of a best-of-three series final series.

Leafs walked off with a victory in the first game, and if they can repeat tonight they will clash with EAC's for the city title next Tuesday. However, first comes the South Siders, who can be plenty tough to handle.

Miller Increase U.S. League Lead

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Minneapolis Millers last night increased their lead in the northern division of the United States Hockey League by defeating the second place St. Paul Saints 3-1 before a capacity house of 5,700 fans.

Minneapolis scorers were Nick Tomiuk, Bus Wycherley and Stan Smith. Mitch Pechet counted for St. Paul.

Woolton, McAdie, Diakur.

Locke and Leonard May Play in City

VANCOUVER, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Stan Leonard, one of Canada's top professional golfers, said yesterday he and Hubby Locke, South African star, may tour Western Canadian cities after the Canadian open, to be held at Shaughnessy Golf Club here in September, is finished.

"We will likely hit Victoria, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon and Winnipeg," said Leonard.

Buffalo Marks Up 30th Puck Victory

BUFFALO, N.Y., Feb. 5.—(CP)—Buffalo Bisons nipped New Haven Ramblers 2-1 last night in an American Hockey League game to chalk up 30 victories this season —first in the league. The win placed the Bisons within a point of the loop-leading Pittsburgh Hornets. Doug Lewis and Tommy Cooper counted the Buffalo goals with Ramblers' going to Jean Paul Denis.

Billy Rose, Sedgewick's fine curler and sportsman, first visited the Edmonton bonspiel in 1926 and commencing a couple of years later, has never missed one since. He isn't curling this year, the result of an accident last fall, but he's back again. "I just couldn't pass it up," said Billy at the Granite last night. Tom Lorimer brought a rink to Edmonton as far back as 1916 and he's been only one off since then. "I've three real curlers with me this time and they do all the work," said Tom who won three games yesterday, one of which put his rink in the eights of the Visitors. Colin Dalzell, Jim Douglas and Bill Weberg are with the Lacombe skipper. The Bulletin camera caught up with Tom and Billy (top), enjoying a coffee at the Granite rink Wednesday night. The lower picture is of Wilbur and Veri Mowbray, both of Alberta Avenue Club, just after the first named had finished giving a curling lesson in a father versus son City event game at the Granite. Official record at which the Squarters reveals "Pop" the winner 13-10, but it actually wasn't quite as close as that. Morris Shields, W. L. Whytok and Bert Ellis curl for Wilbur, while son Veri has Alex Hudson, Jr., Glen Spooner and Vic Gray.

Pats Shade Mortons With Closing Drive

Dell Wilson's back-board sinker with seconds remaining in the final quarter last night gave Claire Hollingsworth's Army and Navy Pats a thrilling 30-29 victory over Mortons "A" in the final match of the ladies' basketball, "A" division schedule at the Eastwood gym.

In the curtain-dropper, RCMP's trounced Varsity's Bearcats 47-31 in a Senior Men's Basketball League encounter.

It the the eighth-straight triumph for Pats, and it figures to prove to be the most thrill-packed encounter of the season, with the verdict swaying from side to side right down to the final toot.

Sparked by the accurate sniping of Eleanor McIntosh, the Pats held a slim 10-9 edge in the first half. The score was all even at 15-15 at half time, and then Pats forged into what appeared a safe 26-15 margin at three-quarter time.

HOWEVER, THE determined Mortons came roaring back to fashion a 29-28 lead with only seconds remaining. Then Dell Wilson picked up a rebound and flipped it into the hoop to sew up the game for Pats.

Eleanor McIntosh was again the high lassie for the winners with 14 points, while Kay McBeth topped the losers' attack with 10.

WITH ROY GIRLING, Ted Tadeson and Geoff Mortimer looping the loop-leading Pittsburgh Hornets, Doug Lewis and Tommy Cooper counted the Buffalo goals with Ramblers' going to Jean Paul Denis.

Hopes to Break Canada's Monopoly

A.H.A. Thriving In America

By ALAN HARVEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(CP)—The Amateur Hockey Association of the United States is a growing organization committed to an ambitious program which ultimately may break Canada's monopoly as a producer of hockey talent.

Far from losing ground in its dispute with the United States Olympic Committee over American representation at the fifth winter Olympics in St. Moritz, Switzerland, the AHA has thrived on the publicity.

President Thomas F. Lockhart, a 52-year-old native New Yorker with button-round eyes and oodles of energy, said yesterday the AHA now has more than 1,400 players registered among 80 affiliated clubs and dozens more "crying for leadership."

"WHEN this thing started, a lot of guys in hockey never heard of the AHA," said the ex-choir boy and $5-a-week office boy who started the AHA in 1937. "Now they all want to join us."

Among the AHA's recent adherents is the Minnesota Amateur Hockey Association, embracing 19 leagues and including a Canadian team, Fort Frances, Ont. The Canadian club is so strong it could "murder" the other teams in the league, an AHA spokesman said recently, so the others are permitted to use a specified number of Canadians.

BUT HOCKEY interest is growing—"kids start playing in 4vs4eth, Minn., at the age of six"—and some day the Americans will compete on even terms.

Other recent AHA affiliates include the New England AHA, the New Hampshire Athletic Association and the Atlantic League, the latter staffed entirely by American-born players.

And Lockhart's sights aren't confined to the United States. He says his information is that Finland's hockey players will be the greatest in the game some day—"maybe a little trip would be in order."

McLaughlin Runs Win Streak to 9

With three more victories Wednesday, making nine in a row, George McLaughlin's Royal Club rink alone remained undefeated in the annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association. McLaughlin won both the Grand Challenge and aggregate titles a year ago with the same help—Gordon Hayman, Beryl Slavik and Larry Hodgins.

The Royal skipper registered his three victories on successive draws. Starting at 12 noon, George took a narrow 10-9 win over Ted Wilson, Thistle Club, in the Challenge (Sick's Edmonton Brewery) and then came right back at 3 o'clock with an 11-8 decision over club-mate Bert Ross in the Edmonton Motors. He continued on the 6 o'clock draw with a 10-7 win in the King Edward over R. Smith of Killam.

SEVERAL RINKS which had been unbeaten up to Tuesday night, lopped yesterday.

Mayor Harry Ainlay, who had started the way with five straight, marked up a 13-10 win over Jack Ruttan, Calgary, on the 9 a.m. draw, but he couldn't get past R. A. Renaud of Westlock in a noon game and dropped out of the Challenge as the result of a 12-10 reverse. The Mayor recovered on the late draw when he eliminated McConachie of Calgary from the King Edward 13-10, to gain his seventh victory.

DON BUTT, Edmonton Club, was beaten 8-1 by Johnny Glasgow in a Grand Challenge joust, but kept travelling in both the Edmonton Motors and King Edward with respective victories over Arden Brown, Edmonton, and Father Rooney, Westlock.

Johnny Glasgow was ousted from the King Edward in the 6 o'clock draw by John Metz, Alberta Ave., the score being 10-8.

Tommy Colburn of Dayaland got back on the win path by beating A. Butt, Sedgewick, 11-10 in the Gas Company event, and Griggs of the Royal 12-3 in the Bank of Montreal.

TOM LORIMER and his Lacombe squad checked in with three wins yesterday, one in the Visitors, one in the Gas Company and a 15-13 (10-9) over George Sjolie of Camrose in the T. Eaton Co. competition. Hills of Calgary and H. Wilson of Granite, were Tom's other victims.

Stan Yakabuski of Tofield clicked for two out of three, winning 13-10 over Bonspiel Dewberry in the Bank of Montreal and over Renaud of Westlock in the Visitors, but losing in the North West Brewery event to Berscht of Innisfail.

Gordon Walker of the Royal was stopped in the King Edward by McLaren, also of the Royal, in 13 ends, 9-8.

THERE WERE EIGHT 13-enders yesterday, four of them on the 9 o'clock draw, another trio on the late session and a pair on the noon draw. Alex Hudson of Alberta Avenue was in three of them and won a pair.

Nine of the quarter-final brackets in both Edmonton Motors (City) and Calgary Brewing (Visitors) events were filled Wednesday night, McLaughlin, Alexander, Race, Don Butt, W. Mowbray and Thompson being the skips that far in the City set, while Ainslie, McIntyre, Duncan, Lorimer, Yakabuski and Gilchrist one step removed from that bracket. Following Wednesday's results:

ALIX, Feb. 5. — Coming from behind three times in a thrill-packed game, Alix nosed out Lougheed-Hardisty representatives 5-4 in the first round of the intermediate "B" playoffs here last night.

The visitors went ahead 3-1 in the first, with Alix' lone goal equalling the score before Lougheed-Hardisty went ahead again. Alix made it 3-3 in the second and Hardisty went into the lead in the third before Alix made its winning drive.

Banff Building Queen's Castle

BANFF, Feb. 5.—Construction of the Queen's castle, and of the toboggan slide, features of the Banff Winter Carnival opening here on Friday 12, is now underway.

Site of the ice castle is again the strategic one at the north end of the Banff Springs, with the town, and massive Cascade Mountain as the background.

THE CASTLE'S design is brand new and is being held secret until its completion reveals its beauties. What is known is that it will be larger than those of recent years.

The toboggan slide will more than maintain the "mile-a-minute" reputation of the Banff Winter Carnival toboggan slides. Its length will be a half-mile.

EXCEPT for a short stretch in the centres' the slide is bush-protected from wind and through the bush-protected sections it lies in a 20-foot wide cleared path.

The head of the slide lies a few yards below the Upper Hot Springs motor road at a point about 200 yards above the Alpine Club, and its finish is a few yards from a point on the same road about a quarter of a mile from its junction with Spray Avenue.

Edmonton's junior Eskimos defeated Calgary Canadians 6-1 in the second game of the provincial junior series at the Arena last night. Collingwood was the pick of the Edmonton forwards, while Duggan, Mahar, Dorsey and Powers played brilliantly. Herb Lewis was the best of the losers.

With "Newsy" Laionde notching three goals in three minutes, Saskatoon Crescents last night handed the Regina Capitals a 7-3 defeat in a Western Canada Senior League match. Hay, with two, and Moran scored for the losers.

The official opening of the Edmonton Senior Baseball League limited officers' quarters where members of the press and radio and ardent baseball fans can gather to talk shop, took place in room 2 of the McLeod Building yesterday afternoon. The new and spacious offices will serve as headquarters for John Ducey and John Beatty, baseball promoters who have gone to great pains to revive the game in Edmonton. Revitalized Canadians Dump Mercurys 6 to 2

Wetaskiwin Canadians, looking sharper and passing more accurately than they have all season, alowed the league-leading Waterloo Mercurys down to a walk last night as they scored a convincing 6-2 victory at the arena.

Inspired by a goal when the game was only 40 seconds old, the Junior members of the Intermediate Hockey League rolled to a 3-0 lead in the first period, matched single goals with the Mercurys in the second and out-scored their opponents 2-1 in the last session.

CANADIANS appeared to have a better conception of what it was all about than in previous appearances, as they clicked on rink-wide passes and finished off their plays in expert fashion.

On the other hand the Mercurys didn't appear to have their usual zip and looked their customary finesse around the cage. The hard-checking Canadians might have had a lot to do with the Mercury's finish, for they checked relentlessly behind their own blue.

THE CANADIANS' success also helped the cause of the Camrose Maroons, who have a chance to "pull even with the Mercurys atop the league standing. Mercurys have 34 points and Camrose has 32 but the Maroons have one more game in hand.

Bob Goodacre and Bob Heathcott, with two goals and one assist apiece, and Colin Kilburn, one goal and two assists, led the Canadians to victory. Vic Stasiuk notched the other.

Harry Allen supplied passes for both Mercury goals, which came from the sticks of Jimmy Kilburn and Bill Dace.

A THREE-WAY passing bout brought the opener, with Heathcott finding the hemp behind Jack Manson after Cash and Kilburn had engineered the play. Both sides were short-handed with Ingram and Pasqualatto in the count when Stasiuk fired a long shot into the cage.

Near the end of the frame Kilburn carried the puck in, planted it on the stick of Heathcott and the latter rifled a perfect shot into the side of the goal.

Dawe passed up a good opportunity at the start of the middle stanza when he miscued after being in the clear, but missed the target by a wide way. Sr Allen and Stuart had picked a corner.

Hendry was given a hot time in the Canadians' net when Kilburn and Lecour were off at the same time, but Stuart was given the nod and they were over all too short for a little more than a minute.

GOODACRE poked in Al Purvis' rebound off the post seconds before the end of the first frame.

Ken Cook and Johnny Michaluk had golden opportunities at the start of the third, but didn't capitalize on them. However, Goodacre and Stasiuk came through with a "picture goal near the three-quarter mark to put the Canadians on sound ice.

The Mercurys scored a fortunate goal at the 14-minute mark to keep their hopes alive when Kilburn scored on a screened shot that never left the ice, Kilburn fired the last goal when he and Heathcott broke away from a Mercury power play.

Wetaskiwin—Hendry; Lecour, Pasqualatto; Heathcott, Stasiuk, Goodacre. Subs: Lundmark, Purvis, Cook Smith, McNabb, Kilburn.

Barrhead, Sales Win Intermediate Playoff Openers

Barrhead Arrows eked out a narrow 3-2 victory over Bobby Graham's Eastwood sextet, and Utility Sales squeezed out a 4-2 triumph at the expense of Thorsby in the first matches of the Intermediate "B" provincial playdowns at the 119 street rink last night.

The Barrhead contingent scored in every period to nose out the scrappy Eastwooders. P. Petryk started the visitors rolling in the opening session and Ray Hexiter extended the margin to 2-0 before Eastwood came to life.

TWO GOALS FROM the sticks of Keats Bartlett and Jim Mash knotted the count in the sandwich canto, but L. Pickrell put the game on "ice" for Barrhead in the final session.

The second fixture was almost as tight. Thorsby tallied the lone marker of the initial stanza, and Utility Sales held a slim 3-2 edge after 40 minutes. Both sextets were driving throughout the final, but the Edmontonians were the only ones to hit the target.

VAUGHEY WEIERSPIEL counted two goals, including the clincher, for the winners, while Leo LeClair and Dahl added singletons. Don Ohern notched both Thorsby markers.

Return games in the home-and-home total-point series will be played this week-end when Eastwood goes to Barrhead and Sales visit Thorsby.

PONOKA, Feb. 5. — With Len Roberts and Ray Spencer combining for 11 goals, Riley Mullen's high-flying Ponoka Stampeders last night went one-game up in the semi-finals of the Central Alberta Hockey League by crushing Stettler Imperial 18-4 before about 500 fans here.

Ray Spencer was the sniping ace for the winners with a half-dozen, while Len Roberts bulged the twine five times and set-up one other. Floyd Hantiuk also had a field day with one tally and seven assists.

OTHER PONOKA marksmen were Bob Watt, 3, Idris Jones, 2, and Gordon McLeod. Bill Huddleston, Gordon Rouse and John Banford registered for the losers.

The visitors played their best hockey of the night in the opening stanza, while holding the fast-skating Stamps to a 4-1 lead. However, the tempo broke loose to extend the margin to 10-3 in the sandwich frame, and then rifled home eight more in the final, while holding imperials to a singleton.

Solinger's Tally Ties Hornets 2-2

CLEVELAND, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Pittsburgh Hornets and Cleveland Barons fought to a tie for the fourth time this season, 2-2, in an American Hockey League game last night. The deadlock kept the Hornets safely in front of the league's western division. Hornet scorers were Jack Hamilton and Stan Kemp, while Cleveland's goal-getters were Fred Thurler and Bob Solinger.

Seaman Takes Two Saskatoon Events

SASKATOON, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Saskatoon's 44th annual Exhibition ended last night with Byron Seaman of Saskatoon edging Cliff Shaw of Saskatoon Granite 9-8 on an extra end to win the final. Seaman also had won the Hudson's Bay trophy earlier.

Play begins today in the round-robin playoff for the Northern Saskatchewan championship, the right to enter the North-South finals to be played here Feb. 13-14.

Pin 4 to 0 Shutout On Maple Leafs

REGINA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Regina Caps bounced back into the leadership of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League last night by pasting Lethbridge Maple Leafs 4-0 and giving goalie Johnny Sofiak his first shutout. Caps hold a one-point lead over the idle Edmonton Flyers.

The victory, which left Leth-Bridge tied for fourth place with Saskatoon Quakers, was fashioned before a crowd of 3,700 after a scoreless first period and a listless second in which Joe Fisher scored Regina's first goal.

Goals by Harvey Barnes and Bill and Gus Kyle in the last session ended the scoring while playing-coach Fisher drew assists on the last two goals.

It was Regina's play all through the scrambly first period, but Sofiak was the better chances. Deflection of shots by sticks and players on Cap power drives gave Maffie Hughes a lot of assistance while Johnny Sofiak at the other end had to work on his saves.

FISHER missed a chance when a pass missed him by inches and then Sofiak was called on to save from Ken Simpson and Roy Hexiter. The latter's penalty for slashing didn't cause Leafs any undue pressure.

A listless second period continued to give Caps their big edge on play but they also continued to fall short of clean-cut scoring opportunities. Ed Thomas broke along for Leafs, missing the net on his shot. He followed with another failure from a scramble drive.

FISHER'S goal, first of the night, came at 7:32 from a play by the boards and behind the net. Joe Schmidt cleared to Fisher who drilled a whistler past Hughes. Schmidt had a go on his own a moment later, but his drive bounced off the Leaf custodian. The remainder of the session was a sloppy, sleepless affair with Leafs making occasional rushes from their own end where most of the play was confined.

A dull first five minutes of the third period ended when Ab McDougall, playing his first game following an ankle injury, passed out to Barnes who sank a wrist-high shot from 20 feet out. A minute later at 6:51, Fisher fed a long pass to Bill Kyle who scored and then not 60 seconds later the fourth Regina goal came from Gus Kyle. He fired in Fisher's rebound.

Bill Kyle came close on a solo rush near the end of the period when his drive hit the inside of the post and play continued at a faster clip till the the game ended.

Lethbridge—Hughes; Taggart, Boorman; Kinakuchuk; Maxwell, Simpson. Subs: Manzies, Gibson, Heximer, Hallworden, Lake, Grey, Thomas.

Regina—Sofiak, Gus Kyle, Grinke; Hardy, Brown, Wilkie. Subs: Barnes, Bill Kyle, McDougall. Van Dealing, Schmidt, Klassen, Ryan, Fisher.

Officials—Vic Linquist, Gordon Porter, Chick Little.

SUMMARY

First Period: Scoring—none. Penalties—Hexiter.

Second Period: 1—Regina, Fisher (Schmidt, Gus Kyle) 7:32. Penalties—none.

Third Period: 2—Regina, Barnes (McDougall, Bill Kyle) 5:36; 3—Regina, Bill Kyle (Fisher) 6:51; 4—Regina, Gus Kyle (Klassen, Fisher) 7:37. Penalties—none.

Ring On Her Finger Slows Down Swains

Barbara Ann Scott Has Two Ardent Admirers, But She's Not Engaged

By Jack Sullivan

ST. MORITZ, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's cover girl, has "at least two ardent admirers" but "she is no more engaged than 1 am," Mrs. Clyde Scott said in an interview yesterday.

But the mother of the world's champion figure skater qualified the last part of her remark with: "As far as I know."

THE ATTRACTIVE, widowed Ottawa woman was sorting out the morning mail in her hotel suite. In addition to a stack of telegrams there were several envelopes bearing the names of movie production companies.

The figure-skating champion, who will be 20 May 9, has no thought of turning professional, her mother said. Next week she defends her world title, won last year at Stockholm, at nearby Davos.

"WHAT ABOUT THAT engagement ring on your finger?" Barbara Ann was asked.

"I guess I'll have to explain that again," interjected Mrs. Scott.

"That ring once belonged to Queen Anne. Barbara Ann's father gave it to her when she was nine years old. Long ago when she was shaking hands with the mother of one of her competitors, the ring broke.

"MR. SCOTT HAD it mended and suggested that thereafter when she wore it, she wear it on the left hand—which she has done to this day."

The old gold ring, set with three emeralds, is understood to slow down many impetuous swains. But, said Mrs. Scott, there are at least a couple of Canadian youths back home who hope to top emeralds.

Their return addresses were on some of the Canadian mail received but Mrs. Scott put the letters aside for Barbara Ann's personal perusal.

Quebec Aces, suffered a broken right forearm when he was forced against the wall in a player mixup.

Red Tilson led the Seattle scoring with two goals and two assists.

Bud Poile Proves "Pearl" Of Five Black Hawk Gems

TORONTO, Feb. 5.—(CP)—The boys who cross the Brooklyn Bridge for Madison Square Garden hockey fare, call him "pearl" and Norman (Bud) Poile has proved just that among the five gems Chicago Black Hawks gathered in their famous five-for-two trade with Toronto Maple Leafs.

If you wanted to figure it down to minutes played in the National League you'd likely learn that Poile, who gathered slivers on the Toronto bench before he went to Chicago last November, would probably prove the league's top marksman.

ON THE BASIS of "games played", with 1,027 points, a game for 37 contests, he's next to the league's top point-maker, Buddy O'Connor of New York Rangers, whose 44 points work out to 1.07 a game.

Max Bentley, who came to the Leafs along with Rookie Cy Thomas for Poile and four others, has one more point than Bud but his average per game is only .095, slightly less than his team mate, Syl Apps, with .097. The other members of the N.H.L.'s "Big Six", Montreal Canadians' Elmer Lach has 1.024 points a game and Jim McFadden of Detroit Red Wings, .088.

BUD, WHO CELEBRATES his 24th birthday next Tuesday, moved to Chicago along with Gaye Stewart and Gus Bodnar, and the Hawks promptly reunited them into the Flying Forts, broken up when the three Fort William, Ont., graduates played under Toronto colors. Defencemen Bob Goldham and Ernie Dickens were the other Toronto chattels included in the swap.

Vegreville Host To College Team

St. John College pucksters will travel to Vegreville for a game with the Rangers Saturday night, commencing at 8 o'clock. The Collegians are reported to have a fine band of puck-chasers and are expected to provide the Vegreville team with plenty of opposition.

MEDICINE HAT, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Forced by Kobussen's two-goal effort, Medicine Hat Tigers defeated Bellevue Lions 3-2 last night in a Southern Alberta Junior Hockey League contest. Scodellaro tallied both Bellevue goals, while Haworth netted the winning goal for Medicine Hat.

Detroit Ties Rangers With Last-Minute Goal

DETROIT, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Scoring twice each in a wild third period, Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers played a 4-4 National Hockey League tie before 12,842 fans here last night with the league-leading Red Wings bagging the tying goal in the last half minute.

Detroit goalie Harry Lumley was out of the nets for 16 seconds while the Red Wings were ganging up on the New Yorkers to count the tying goal. The Rangers protested to Referee George Gravel, charging interference, but the protest fell on deaf ears.

NEW YORK APPEARED to have an edge in play most of the way as Detroit seemed ragged playing its fourth game in five days, but it was nip and tuck in the scoring column with the game tied up four times.

Ted Lindsay scored for Detroit in the opening stanza but the Rangers equalled it in goals by Herbert (Buddy) O'Connor and Edgar Laprade in the second while Leonard (Red) Kelly was registering for the Red Wings.

O'CONNOR'S second goal gave the Rangers a 3-2 edge at 10:13 of the final stanza. It stood up just 81 seconds before Lindsay popped in his second score of the night and his 25th goal of the year to tie it again 3-3 at 11:34.

Don Raleigh tipped in Rene Trudell's long shot 53 seconds later to give New York a 4-3 lead at 12:26.

WITH THE RANGERS scoring ly en route to a narrow victory, Detroit yanked Lumley and sent out four forwards for a face-off at the New York end. Sid Abel won the face-off but Frank Eddolls of the Rangers apparently broke up the play as he kicked the puck back to the blue line.

Bill Quackenbush recovered it there for the Wings and let fly a long one that Abel tipped in.

New York—Henry; Colville, Mosdell; Laprade; Kellman, Lesnick. Subs: Eddolls, Trudell, O'Connor, Watson, Wasylick, Raleigh, Hestall, Lamirande, Gardiner, Kurdis.

Detroit—Lumley; Quackenbush, Stewart; Abel, Howe, Lindsay. Subs: R. Morrison, D. Morrison, Kelly, Peirson, Conacher, McFadden, Guidolin, Gauthier, Reise.

Scores TKO Over Boguski

Deschambeault Wins Western Welter Title

CALGARY, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Tommy Deschambeault of Calgary last night won the Western Canada welterweight boxing championship by scoring a technical knockout over Alec Boguski of Lethbridge, Alta., in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

Boguski escaped two brief flurries of stylish boxing in the first two heats, was no match for the hard-hitting Calgary fighter who formerly held the Western middleweight title but had never before been champion in his own class.

DESCHAMBEAULT, at 145 pounds, was two pounds lighter than Boguski, but was never bothered by his opponent's edge in weight. He took the first three rounds by slight margins, then started the Lethbridge boy reeling with a right hook to the head early in the fourth.

Boguski was knocked down three times before the fourth round ended and his seconds threw in the towel after 53 seconds of the fifth round.

Last holder of the Western Canada welter crown was Benny Geary of Edmonton, who retired recently.

Toronto Leafs Break Lengthy Boston Jinx

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs broke a 16-game scoring jinx here last night by defeating the fourth place Boston Bruins 4-2 in a National Hockey League fixture before 13,900 fans.

The win pulled the Leafs to within three points of the league-leading Detroit Red Wings and broke a winless 16-game streak on Boston ice since March 4, 1945.

DURING THAT STRETCH the Maple Leafs had dropped 13 decisions and tied six in Boston Garden action.

The Leafs gained a point on Detroit who were held to a 4-4 stalemate by New York. At the outset it appeared as if the Maple Leafs were in for another Boston drubbing, for Jimmy Peters tallied in each of the first two periods before the blue-shirted sticksters got the range on Frankie Brimsek's cage.

THEN THEY POURED four pucks through him in about 12 minutes with Max Bentley sparking them. Howie Meeker notched the first Toronto goal and then Bill Ezinicki, Bentley and Teeter Kennedy dented the Boston twines. The latter three also wound up with an assist apiece.

While going down to their fourth straight defeat, the Bruins played without Milt Schmidt, their all-star centre, who has been sidelined for the second time this season with a knee injury.

Hollywood Changeth

Signe Hasso, Swedish movie actress, has been in Hollywood for years without getting very far. Now she suddenly finds herself starring in three epics. She explains the sudden change in her progress to the fact that Hollywood itself is changing. "At one time," she says, "girls did not have to known how to act, but now a pretty face is just something that goes with an actress." So she says!

Bears Appear Early

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Feb. 5.—Trappers and Indians coming in to town report the bears are out a month or six weeks earlier than usual. Apparently, the winter has been so warm that the bears think it is spring, but they are not finding conditions very pleasant. For food, they are haunting farms and lumber camps.

One lady heard a noise in the middle of the night and got up and went to the window to look out. As she looked out, a big bear looked in, but ran off when she appeared. Any food that is not securely locked up, is not safe, for the bears are hungry and nature is not ready to supply food.

May Hold Fair Rocky This Year

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Feb. 5.—At the last meeting of the Rocky Mountain House Agricultural Society, the members discussed the question of a fair for 1948. There has not been a fair here since 1932. When the society was revived a year ago, an extensive improvement program was carried out on the grounds. The society, even when dormant, managed to hang onto the grounds, one of the loveliest spots in the country.

These grounds were cleared, stampede fences and chutes built, a grandstand and dance hall almost finished, and the entire grounds wired.

After a long discussion, members decided to have a fair in 1948 only if the biggest part of the debt incurred in the improvement program could be paid off. If not, they will continue to raise money and postpone the fair till 1949.

Have Chartered Ship

Mennonites to Leave For Paraguayan Homes

By William Ivens

WINNIPEG, Feb. 5.—(CP)—After almost a year of trying to obtain passage, 1,500 Mennonites from the prairies have been successful in chartering a vessel to take them to Paraguay where they will continue their own way of life.

D. B. DUBIENSKI, Winnipeg legal counsel for the Mennonites, disclosed they had chartered the S.S. Volandam, a one-time troopship now operated by the Netherlands Ministry of Transport bringing displaced persons to Canada. The Volandam will leave an eastern Canadian port, probably Quebec, May 15 with the Mennonites. Most are from Manitoba although a few come from Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Smaller groups are expected to leave shortly after, either in other boats, or in transport planes from New York.

The Mennonites plan to emigrate to the southeastern corner of Paraguay where they will grow cotton, peanuts and tobacco and raise cattle. That part of the country is heavily wooded at present and a good deal of clearing will be necessary before the land can be used for agriculture.

Mr. Dubienski said the Mennonites are leaving Canada mainly because they do not desire any further embarrassment on the question of conscription in the event of another war. Those leaving, he said, belong to "the less reformed sections of the Mennonite religion."

He said they were "clinging tenaciously to their simple faith and do not want to see their children become too worldly." These Mennonites, he added, have not fallen into the Canadian pattern of life as much as other "reformed" groups.

MR. DUBIENSKI emphasized that they are fully conscious of the hardships they are undertaking. In their desire for a primitive elemental life they are taking along only the crudest of implements and are purchasing oxen in Canada for their farming.

Mr. Dubienski also said that they highly appreciated the measure of freedom they had received in Canada. He described the exodus as a struggle between their love of freedom and a love of their religion. He disclosed Paraguay had passed "very liberal" laws for Mennonites who had settled in that country in 1926. The laws exempted the sect from taxation, from conscription or bearing arms and from having to go to Paraguayan schools and learning Spanish.

THE REV. C. E. ROGERS

Chalmers Church Has Good Year

Chalmers United Church enjoyed a very successful year and marked progress was made by all groups during 1947, it was reported at the annual meeting of the church recently. The Rev. C. E. Rogers was chairman.

Mr. Rogers reviewed the activities of last year, pointing out that much had been accomplished. He added that there was still considerable work to be done in most branches of the church and hoped that a great deal of it could be done in 1948.

Treasurers' report, read by F. H. Poole, revealed that all accounts had been paid and a balance carried forward.

S. Irwin, treasurer of the building and renovation fund, read a detailed account of the contributions received and the expenses incurred in the enlargement of the church kitchen and the installation of complete gas and plumbing fixtures.

Miss C. Swan, superintendent of the Sunday School, reported good progress both in financial standing and attendance. She said that three more teachers were urgently needed.

Report on the Women's Aid activities was read by Mrs. M. Pinkston, treasurer. Reports on the Wolf Cub and Boy Scout groups were given by Miss Grace Rogers.

Members of the Session and of the Official Board continue in office for another year.

Owner Pushes Bailiff Out of Cafe—Faces Obstruction Charge

"That will be the day you take my cash register", Louis Buray, cafe proprietor, told Sheriff's Bailiff Thomas Squires and allegedly proceeded to push him out of the premises. This was last January 23.

Thursday morning Buray appeared in city police court charged with obstructing a peace officer. Up to noon two crown witnesses had been heard and Mr. Buray gave evidence in his own defence. The trial was adjourned until 2 p.m. to hear further witnesses.

SQUIRES TOLD court he entered the premises on Jan. 23 about noon to serve Buray with seizure papers. These papers Buray tore up.

Squires said Buray reached under the counter and said, "I've warned you before about coming to my place—this time you're going to get it." Squires said he then picked up his books and proceeded to back away toward the door.

He said Buray rushed around the counter after him, struck him on the arm and clawed his face. A brief wrestling match ensued until Squire's son, a city constable, appeared on the scene and quieted things down.

A PATRON in the cafe testified that Buray rushed at Squires and struck at him but she did not see if the blows landed.

Buray then took the stand. He said that Squires entered the cafe, said nothing at first but just looked around. He said he knew Squires from seeing him many times during the past year and a half.

He said the sheriff's man then went to a shelf and proceeded to write something on a sheet of paper. Buray said he then returned to the counter.

"I ASKED HIM—what will it be today?" said Buray. Squires answered, alleged Buray, "I have come to take your cash register." Buray said his reply to Squires was, "That will be the day you take my cash register."

Buray said Squires backed up and "just stood there in one spot." He added that he thought maybe he really would take the cash register and so he moved around from behind the cash register and proceeded to try and push the sheriff's man out of the door. He said he did not strike him.

Buray said the policeman stepped in the doorway then and grabbed him. At this time he alleged Squires struck him in the eye with his fist.

Later in the day Squires did return and take the cash register. Buray is proprietor of the cafe located at 9009 109 street.

TWO TEEN-AGERS, one 19 years, the other 16, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering when they appeared before Magistrate A. I. Millar Thursday morning.

The pair are charged with breaking into the American Airforce Officers' club and stealing four watches and 10 cartons of cigarettes. The same day they entered the R.C.A.F. drill hall where they stole $9 cash. Then when arrested they admitted breaking into Medico Welders where they stole a truck and later abandoned it on a city street. The 19-year-old is at present serving a suspended sentence. They were remanded until Feb. 12.

Daniel Spofford, Edmonton, pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance in a city hotel on Wednesday night and was remanded until Monday for sentence.

Constable Bob Gillies, giving evidence, stated that he and Constable Henry Martell were called to the hotel and when there they were informed that two men had entered the women's beverage room to find two women. The manager, David Fox, said he ordered the men out and Spofford swore at him and threatened him. Then the two men and women left.

Later Spofford was arrested by city police as he was about to enter a taxi at 101 street and Jasper avenue. At first he denied that he had been into any trouble. But Fox positively denied him as the man. Bail for Spofford was set at $500.

Ray Johnson, Edmonton, pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining an automobile by false pretences. Detective Frank Kingzett pointed out that the accused traded cars with another man and said in the agreement that there was no encumbrances on the car he was trading. Later the other man found out that there was a lien against the auto.

Johnson was given a months' remand in order to make restitution. The crown recommended leniency due to the fact that Johnson has a physical disability.

Harrison Burkholder, Edmonton, charged with obtaining $15 from a city department store with a worthless cheque was remanded until Feb. 12 when it was pointed out that the accused is believed to have circulated some more bogus cheques.

* * *

No plea was taken from Robert Wall, Edmonton, charged with obtaining an auto valued at $500 and an additional count on obtaining $1,000, both by false pretences. The auto and cash are alleged to have been fraudulently obtained from Lyons Motors.

City Couple Seeks Damages

Protruding Manhole Is Blamed for Accident

A protruding manhole on 108 avenue, near 97 street, is alleged to have caused a motor car accident in which Mrs. Madge O'Neil, Edmonton, received serious injuries. The allegation is contained in a statement of claim filed in the court house Thursday against the City of Edmonton by Gerard Amerongen, Edmonton barrister, on behalf of Roy and Mrs. O'Neil.

It is alleged in the statement of claim that the occupants of the car were thrown against the windshield when passing over the protruding manhole, and that Mrs. O'Neil received an ugly, conspicious and permanent scar on her forehead, lost a lot of blood and became anaemic, and suffered other damages to her person.

She is claiming $8,000 general and $300 special damages, the latter claim being the estimated cost of plastic surgery to eliminate the disfigurement suffered in the accident.

Mr. O'Neil is claiming $368.35 damages for hospital and medical costs, and for damage sustained by his automobile. He also claims $500 for loss of his wife's consortium.

Talk Mine Rules

Strip mining regulations will form basis for discussions between government officials, mine operators and members of Local 18, United Mine Workers of America, during conferences being held by the mines branch, department of lands and mines, on Thursday.

John Crawford, chief inspector of mines for the province, said the session may last for two days. The government will seek the reaction of miners and others to proposed regulations.

Residents Alarmed By 2 Recent Blazes

Residents of West Jasper Place are protesting the lack of fire protection supplied in that district, and will make representations to the municipal district council seeking a remedy, it was announced Thursday.

THE PROTESTS follow two serious fires in the district Wednesday, one of which caused fire damage of $100,000 to a plywood plant, and the other destroyed a dwelling.

The residential district of West Jasper Place lies immediately west of the city limits at 149 street. It is a section of Stony Plain Municipal district.

Fire Chief James Macgregor stated here Thursday that no arrangement had been made by the municipality under which the Edmonton fire department would supply fire protection, and consequently the department did not answer calls to the dwelling fire. Arrangements had been made between the plywood company and the city to supply protection and fire department sent equipment to combat the fire.

He said that businessmen or home owners in the area can take out contracts with the city for fire protection. The plywood factory owners had such a contract.

Public Works Dept. Big User Of Tax Forms

One government department alone has requisitioned for 8,500 of the newly-simplified T4 income tax forms, it was learned on Thursday. One of each of the new forms is needed for every employe or part-time employe of the department and since much of the work performed is of a seasonal character there is constant turn-over of personnel.

The department concerned is Public Works, headed by Hon. W. A. Fallow.

A departmental official pointed out, however, that more than 2,000 employes in the department in October were largely different individuals than the 2,000 working for the government in March.

PROPERTY OWNERS' MEET

A meeting of the Property Owners' Association of Edmonton will be held in the Public Library Friday night at eight o'clock. George Bryan, Rent Control Board official, will be the principal speaker. Officers for 1948 will also be elected.

30 Dwellings Involved

Two Housing Projects Are Approved By City

Two home building projects under the integrated housing plan of the Dominion government were given approval Wednesday by City Architect Maxwell C. Dewar and will result in the starting of the construction of 30 dwellings as soon as building conditions permit. The two projects involve the expenditure of approximately $220,000.

William Kruger, city contractor, submitted plans for the construction of 20 homes, each costing $8,000, which were approved. The houses will be erected on 137 and 138 streets between 103 and 104 avenues.

Approval also was granted to plans submitted by A. Solikoski, city contractor, for the erection of 10 homes each costing $6,000. They will be erected on 127 street between 116 and 118 avenues.

Four land sales were made Wednesday by the city land department to prospective home builders, the sales totalling $1,377 and the value of the four homes to be erected to $23,000.

Knox United Plans Build New Hall

More than $27,000, of which $5,000 had been allocated to the missionary and Maintenance fund, was raised by various organizations of Knox United Church during the last year, it was reported at the annual meeting Wednesday night. The Rev. Gerald Rogers is minister of the church.

Financial statements were presented by Dr. J. W. Campbell and Richard Bibby.

Membership of the church had again increased during the year, and now stands at more than 1,100, it was revealed in a report on the Session by George S. Macdonald.

William Carse, chairman of the building committee, announced plans for immediate erection of a new hall.

A social, sponsored by the Women's Association, followed the meeting. Mrs. W. H. Collier is president of the women's group.

Green stems of young onions will flavor soups and stews.

Heads Committee

H. O. PATRIQUIN

Commerce Group Study Tax Effects

Impact of increased costs of materials and supplies, and the effect of the introduction of the 40-hour week for civic employees on the tax rate will be studied by the Civic Administration committee of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Decision to make this study was taken as the result of a presentation made Wednesday to the Council of The Chamber of Commerce at the weekly luncheon held in the Corona hotel.

The committee will be headed by H. O. Patriquin, chartered accountant, and its personnel will be appointed within the next few days.

Another committee of the Chamber will study and report on the proposal made recently by Mayor Harry Ainlay that aldermen be elected for four year terms, and that money bylaws be passed on a straight majority basis instead of the present two-thirds majority required for the passage of such bylaws.

Faithful Apple Remains Homemaker's Stand-By

An apple a day keeps the doctor away—or so goes the old adage, and it is certainly true enough that the frequent use of the apple in the daily diet helps to keep one physically fit as well as gourmetically satisfied.

The low price and abundant supply of this delicious tangy fruit makes it accessible to people of all income brackets.

Every meal planner knows only too well the difficulties encountered in making meals that will suit everyone's taste, be nutritious and still come within the family budget.

Here is another place where the apple shines: Let the youngsters make their own taffy apples to give to their favorite teacher on Valentine's day. Or at least let them do the dipping themselves.

Taffy Apples

2 cups sweet white syrup
2 teaspoons butter
½ teaspoon salt
1/36 teaspoon baking soda
½ cup evaporated milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
12 wooden skewers
12 apples, washed and dried.

Heat butter, syrup and salt to boiling. Dissolve soda in milk and add very slwly to mixture. Continue boiling to firm ball stage, stirring frequently. Add vanilla. Insert skewers in blossom end of apples. Dip apples into hot syrup remove and twist to spread syrup evenly. Dip in chopped nuts to cool.

* * *

If you have an Ontario grandmother, you will recognize the following as a special Sunday breakfast treat.

Apple Griddle Cakes

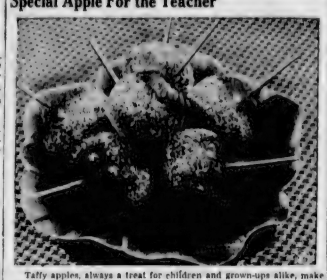

2 cups scalded milk
2 cups fresh bread crumbs
1 tablespoon melted shortening
2 eggs, separated
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon maple syrup
1 cup chopped apples.

Turn the hot milk over the bread crumbs, add the melted fat and let the mixture set until the crumbs are very soft. Rub through a sieve or mash. Beat the egg yolks until light and add the crumbs. Sift the dry ingredients and combine with the bread. Add the syrup and mix thoroughly. Beat the egg whites and fold in and quickly stir in the finely chopped apples. Bake on a hot griddle.

* * *

Now for a tasty supper dish that is easy to fix and easy to please the family with:

Special Apple For the Teacher

Taffy apples, always a treat for children and grown-ups alike, make novel and tasty Valentines for the small frys' favorite teachers. The youngsters can even make them themselves.

Baked Apples, Filled With Sausage Meat

6 large apples
1 cup well-seasoned sausage meat
2 tablespoons brown sugar (optional).

Wash the apples and cut a slice from the tops. Scoop out the cores and pulp, leaving shells ¾-inch thick. Cut the pulp from the cores and chop it. Combine it with the sausage meat. Sprinkle the shells with the salt and sugar and fill them with the sausage mixture. Bake at 375 deg. F. until tender. These may be served with potatoes, rice or boiled noodles.

For salads, apples can add an artistic touch when used unpeeled. The special crispness of the fruit makes them combine well with other fruits and vegetables.

Apple-Cheese Salad

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
Few drops red food coloring
6 apples, pared and cored
¼ cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons tart jelly
Dash of salt
1/3 cup nuts

Boil sugar and water and coloring for about 7 minutes. Drop apples into syrup, cover and simmer until tender, turning frequently. Drain and chill. Blend cottage cheese, jelly, salt and nuts. Stuff apples and serve on crisp greens, adding a little French dressing.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mothers talk much less of colic these days than they did twenty years ago. There was a time when all babies were expected to have colic. There another period when all colic was called hunger. And now the present period when the colonion is that some babies even on a good formula do, without apparent cause, have some difficulty digesting their food. This indigestion is termed colic. Probably there would have been less colic in the early days had mothers known how to promote a better breast supply. less colic in the middle period if formulas had been better adapted to the child's needs and still less today if along with all the wealth of knowledge of how to feed babies, more mothers would breast-feed them.

What is deplorable is for a mother to accept the idea that colic has some mystical time period; and figuratively fold her hands and wait until the six weeks or three months' period has passed. When the baby is suffering, there should be a continuous effort to determine the causes of that suffering and to end it.

The nursing baby may cry from hunger—and act colicky—in the late afternoon. The breast supply is materially diminished at that time. A complementary bottle may be helpful until the breast supply is stabilized and more generous.

With the artificially fed, when the colic is a late afternoon phenomenon, as it so often is, it may be due to fatigue or to a formula excessive in size and richness. The baby's digestive apparatus may go on strike late in the day after orgies of eating at too frequent intervals. The formula should be suspected until it is proved guiltless.

Too little food will certainly cause the baby to be fretful and he may be accused of being a colicbaby. Comparison of his formula and those suitable for a baby of his age and weight may indicate in what way it might be changed and improved. Green stools with mucus are often attributed to indigestion when more food might end them.

The weekly gains in weight of both the bottle and breast-fed infant might help to clear up the mystery of the colic. The baby who gains prodigiously, and the one who gains little or not at all, both have good reason to proclaim their woes to the world.

When the baby is crying and uncomfortable he should be comforted, kept warm and quiet, until such time as the cause of his difficulty is discovered. It would be most unjust for his protectors to penalize the baby for the mistakes of feeding for which they are to blame.

Eat For Beauty On 100-Calory Portions

Most women need about 2,000 calories a day.

The best way to regulate your diet, whether it's to lose, gain or stay as you are, is with 100-calory portions.

Once you know how much of what foods equal 100 calories, you can plan menus that are well-balanced yet within the caloric limit you have set for yourself.

What are some 100-calory portions?

Four strips bacon, one doughnut, one cup chicken soup, one frankfurter, one cup cole slaw are 100 calory portions.

Also, half of a sweet potato, one serving egg-and-tomato salad, 30 medium-sized radishes (if you like your radishes), six to eight olives, one cup snow pudding and 10 large potato chips contain 100 calories.

You can't cheat, of course. The woman who eats three griddle cakes (300 calories) in place of one slice of bread (100 calories) is only fooling herself.

Learn how to juggle 100-calory portions in your menu. See the listing of 100-calory dishes in our Reader Service booklet No. 46. Fruits, cereals, soups, meat, vegetables, desserts broken down into portion size.

Also, reducing and weight-gaining menus, diet tricks and weight chart. Send 20 cents (coin) for "Change Your Weight For Beauty's Sake" to Edmonton Bulletin, Reader Service, 60 Front St., W., Toronto. Print name, address with zone, booklet title and No. 46.

"Family Interest" Assurance

For Daily Menus

A favorite with youngsters and an ideal aid to more enjoyable meals. They're so easy to prepare in so many different ways. Your whole family will enjoy B.C. Apples daily. They're Good—and Good For You.

Check These Ideas for Using B.C. APPLES

APPLESAUCE IS GOOD TO EAT

With roast pork, goose, duck, baked ham or sausages. As a topping for milk deserts, such as tapioca, rice and custard puddings. Spread on hot buttered toast for breakfast. With gingerbread, as a supper dessert. In an apple omelet. Make a foamy omelet and before folding, spread with warm applesauce. Fold and serve.

BAKED HAM WITH STUFFED APPLES

Trim off a portion of the fat from a slice of ham, one inch in thickness, if there is an excess of fat. Place in a shallow baking-pan. Rub with brown sugar. Dot with whole cloves. Peel and core tart apples. Place around ham. Put one teaspoon seeded and cut raisins in each cavity. Fill with brown sugar. Dot with butter. Pour in half a cup of boiling water. Cover and bake until the meat is tender.

RED APPLE CUP SALAD

Select red B.C. Apples. Wash and core. Scoop out centres and mix apple with salad dressing. Put apple cups in a bowl of cold water to prevent discoloration. Toss apple pulp, dressing and cottage cheese together lightly. Dry apple cups and fill with salad mixture. Garnish with chopped walnuts and a bit of parsley.

APPLE TURNOVERS

Roll pie crust into rounds about the size of a large saucer. On one-half of pastry round, arrange layers of thinly sliced B.C. Apples. Sprinkle with a mixture of sugar, cinnamon and a little salt. Dot with butter. Moisten lower rim of pastry. Bring top part over apples. Press the two edges firmly together with tines of a fork. Prick top crust, so that steam can escape. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° to 400° F.) for about 20 minutes, or until apples are tender.

APPLE UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

Yields 6 servings.

¾ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
3 to 5 B.C. Apples
Cinnamon mixed with a little sugar.

Warm butter and cream it into sugar. Add well-beaten egg and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Butter bottom and sides of bake-dish. Peel and core apples. Cut into half-inch slices, so they resemble pineapple rings. Arrange these apple slices on bottom of bake-dish. Nuts or cherries may be used to fill centres of rings. Sprinkle with sugar and spice mixture. Pour cake mixture over apples. The batter is rather thick and may need to be smoothed on top with a knife. Bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes. Loosen sides of cake and turn it upside down carefully. Serve hot.

APPLE TAPIOCA

¾ cup fine tapioca (or sago)
or ½ cup pearl tapioca
¾ teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
6 small B.C. apples
Brown sugar.

Cook tapioca with salt and milk in top of double boiler until tapioca is transparent. Core and pare apples. Stick three or four cloves in each. Arrange apples in buttered baking dish. Fill cavities with sugar and pour cooked tapioca over apples. Bake in a moderate oven until apples are tender. Serves six. If using pearl tapioca or sago, soak in some of the milk for several hours before cooking.

Stringed Instruments—more than half of an orchestra's instruments belong to this family. Left to right, first violin, second violin, harp, double bass, viola, which looks like a violin but is larger, and the violincello, which is a small double bass.

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

THE ORCHESTRA'S STRING FAMILY

More than half of the instruments in a modern symphony or concert orchestra belong to the string family. It is the most complete group, and to most listeners the most pleasing.

It has a range of six and a half octaves and can portray any kind of movement—exceedingly fast or slow, sad or gay, tender or harsh. This makes it useful to the composer who is seeking instruments to imitate certain sounds found in nature. In an orchestra of 80 players, in order to obtain the proper balance, we should have about 16 first violins, 14 second violins, eight violas, 12 cellos and eight double basses.

The violin is the most important instrument in the orchestra. It has an old and distinguished family tree, going back several thousand years; but the violin itself was not perfected until the 17th century. We have not been able to make better violins than the master craftsmen, such as Stradivarius, made over 200 years ago. Indeed, a genuine Stradivarius is prized far above the best instrument a modern maker can turn out.

There are four strings, which for centuries were made from sheep gut, but now metal strings which are cheaper and more durable are much used. The longer a good violin is kept and the more it is played the better it sounds.

The violins have a most important work to do in the orchestra and usually two parts are written for them—the first and second. While the first violins usually play the melodies, the work of the second violins is harmonic and is used to fill in the chords and emphasize rhythms. Such parts are difficult and very important; a musician once said: "An orchestra is only as good as its poorest second violinist."

Usually the best player among the first violinists is the concert master, who sits on the first outside chair nearest the conductor. He may, in fact, replace the conductor in case of necessity. He usually plays any solos required from the violin section.

The viola looks like the violin, but is longer, with heavier strings. The music for the viola is written in two clefs — the alto and the treble. The "thuhre" or tonal quality of the instrument is somewhat veiled and nasal. It is often used in straining where a certain sadness prevails.

The Italian word violone means double bass, and cello means small. Therefore, the small double bass which we know popularly as a "cello" should properly be spelled violoncello, not violincello. The cello is held between the knees and a peg raises the instrument from the floor. The player must always sit. The instrument employs three clefs—the bass, the alto and the treble.

Next to the violin, the cello is the most important instrument in the orchestra. It is used as a melody instrument or to provide a tonal background for the higher-pitched instruments.

Parts for the double bass, which carries the deepest bass parts of the score, are written one octave above their actual sound in order to avoid the constant use of extra lines below the staff. Not older instruments had only three strings; today most double basses have four or five strings to enable the composer to call for extremely low notes.

Why Grow Old?

Included in the secret formula given today for vitality and well being, is advice to practice the heedfulness with which Actress Evelyn Keyes chooses her food.

By Josephine Lowman

Dr. G. F. Alsop has been a physician at Barnard college for thirty years. During that time she has been in close contact with the girls who have been pupils there and has watched over their health. When Dr. Alsop told me she is sixty-seven years old, it was difficult to believe. She has very few gray hairs, and emanates vitality and well being, as well as vital good spirits. I expressed my surprise and asked for her secret formula.

She is a great and ardent believer in correct nutrition. The following list is the one she gave me as a daily requirement; two glasses of milk all of our lives — an egg a day until twenty-five — whole wheat or stone ground oats — three oranges a day, six are better — one raw vegetable — two cooked vegetables, including potatoes — meat, according to your pocketbook. She said, "Young people should be well fed, older ones not so well fed. People should curb their food intake as they grow older, that is as to quantity, but not quality."

Dr. Alsop also feels there are two other factors which lead to lowered vitality. Number one is not enough sleep. Adequate sleep she believes is vital to a high energy level and to fine health. She said, "Many people have problems as to sleep. That is natural, but they should and can solve them."

Number two is young people try to do too many different things. They scatter their energy in too many different ways. This leads to fatigue and a sense of frustration.

It seems to me that my little talk with this well loved physician brings you a compact pill of advice. Certainly we can all follow her diet suggestions for they are simple.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—
Outside Interests Give Broad Outlook

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a sister who is married to a fine man. She has a beautiful home and two lovely children. She devotes her entire time to her family. Goes nowhere. Has no friends. And she claims that the ideal mother should have no interests outside of her home, that her husband and children should fill her life completely. Don't you think she is wrong about this?

SISTER

ANSWER: Yes. I think your sister will find out to her sorrow when her children grow up and leave her. She will be a lucky woman if she even has her husband left to her in her empty house, for there is nothing that drives a man out of a home as quickly and surely as having a wife who has grown dull from staying in it too much.

There may have been a time when husbands and children were satisfied with a wife and mother who was nothing but a wife and mother, but that time is past. A wife and mother has to be a pal and comrade and able to go all the gaits to satisfy the modern demand of a family.

Furthermore, the woman who stays put in her own house and has no social contacts does her husband and children a great injustice because she does not make for them a place in the sun they have a right to expect her to make. A popular wife is one of the best business assets a man can have. And a mother who has kept her friends and her place in society can open the right doors for her children when they are grown.

The woman who counts it unto herself for righteousness because she has narrowed her interests down to the four walls of her home, and who boasts that she never goes anywhere and has given up all her old friends, makes a fatal mistake. The wise wife is the one who lives as full and broad a life as she can.

DEAR MISS DIX: How much should a married girl tell her mother about her husband?

ELIZABETH H.

ANSWER: I think a wife is guilty of a great disloyalty to her husband when she tells her mother of her husband's little faults and weaknesses, or any of his personal peculiarities that she discovers in the intimacy of married life. These should be sacred to her, and if she really loves her husband she will view these with a tender forgiveness just because they are his.

A wife should give her husband a square deal and treat him as she would like to be treated. She knows very well it would make her furious if her husband discussed her with his mother. Nor should a wife ever tell her mother about her husband's business affairs. Many a wife who complains that her husband never confides in her, has only herself to blame. She blabbed everything he told her to Mother and Mother broadcast it to her friends.

The only time that a married girl should talk freely to her mother about her husband is when she is singing his praises about how good and kind he is, how happy she is and how much she loves him.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have been married three years. My husband and I love each other dearly and we get along beautifully except on one point—amusements. I am gay and I love parties, movies and a good time. He is quiet and likes to stay at home all the time. Which of us is right?

DISCONTENTED

ANSWER: Neither. And both. It is equally bad for a young couple to run around too much, or to stay at home too much. Every married couple need outside society; they need friends and amusements, but they should take them in broken doses.

The wife should remember that her husband works hard all day that he comes home mentally and physically worn out, and that the peace and quiet of his own fireside is the thing he craves most in the world. The husband should remember that just being married to him isn't a perpetual picnic for his wife. She needs something else. Something outside the home. Something amusing, diverting and that she can look forward to.

Why not strike a compromise on the amusement question? Why not make a bargain with your husband that you will stay at home with him six nights a week, if on the seventh he will take you out stepping? If you can hit upon this plan, I think you both will be happier. Try it.

Many natives of Brazil drink from 10 to 30 cups of coffee a day.

"Operation Diaper" At University of B.C.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 5—(CP)—"Operation Diaper" lies ahead for married veterans at the University of British Columbia.

The U.B.C. branch of the Canadian Legion has flung down the gauntlet to all Canadian universities, challenging their second world war veterans to a dominion-wide "beautiful baby" contest.

Wires have gone out from the campus legion to prime minister Mackenzie King, Lady Alexander, veterans' minister Gregg C. H. Price, dominion president of the Canadian Legion, Progressive Conservative Leader John Bracken and C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell, requesting their services as judges in the contest.

The U.B.C. Legion at a meeting yesterday passed a resolution expressing the belief that their members' babies were "not only the most beautiful babies at U.B.C. but also the universities in Canada."

"The branch challenges anyone doubting this opinion to submit proof to a national judging committee," the resolution said.

Although the veterans' wives had no voice in the proceedings, it is rumored they have more than a passing interest.

Only comment of U.B.C. president Dr. N. A. M. Mackenzie was that "veterans here have a very fine lot of babies," but the former martimer's support is considered assured following last week's competition at which he dawdled on his lap 23-months-old Susan Thornycroft, his selection for "the most beautiful baby" on the university campus.

The challenge follows last year's boast that U.B.C. campus belles outshine western Canada's most beautiful women in open contest.

The boast later apparently was made good when Marion Albert of Vancouver captured the western campus crown.

Only Girl Lightkeeper Quits Post After 2 Years

VANCOUVER.—(CP) — Leslie Thomson, 18, only girl lightkeeper on the British Columbia coast has resigned from her post on windswept Pine Island Light, Queen Charlotte Sound, in favor of her brother, Alan.

Leslie, two years ago at the age of 16, became assistant lightkeeper when her father took over the lighthouse.

It is believed that when she got her last pay cheque government officials did not know Leslie Thomson who stood a lonely night visit seven days a week, was a girl.

The attractive, black-haired girl was christened "Leslie" and when the lightkeeping service wanted an assistant, officials checked the family list. They thought his "young son Leslie" was just the man for the job, and so she was appointed.

Smilingly, Leslie said she loved the sea, the light and even the seagulls.

Only visitor to the island is the supply ship which comes once monthly if it isn't too stormy. But Leslie said she had dozens of friends she saw every day. Coastal boats steamed past and blasted hello whistles. At night the friendly winking lights of passing steamers kept her company.

Leslie is as proud of the lightkeeping tradition as her grandfather before her. For many years he and her own father as a boy kept the famous Scottish light of Isleseraw, first landfall of the wartime ferry pilots flying trans-Atlantic trips to England.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

Today's lesson hand centres around the line of attack. Most good players will tell you not to bid suits unless you have a sound theory behind it.

This hand is not difficult for the defense to analyze. The opening lead does not look like a singleton. When South wins the first trick with the ace of hearts, he can feel pretty sure of winning the ace of spades and king of clubs.

If he leads a heart, he may do no harm, but he may be afraid that any other lead might give declarer his contract. That kind of reasoning is wrong. Making a neutral lead at this point is foolish.

South knows that declarer is all likelihood holds either the queen or jack of clubs. If he holds both, dummy's deuce of clubs will become valuable for discarding purposes. So there is nothing to be gained by leading a club, and it might cost a trick. A heart lead might give declarer the timing to establish the club.

So the only chance to defeat the contract is to create a diamond trick for North. If declarer has the ace-king-queen of diamonds, nothing can be done. But

Lesson Hand—Neither vul

South	West	North	East
1♥	1♠	Pass	3♠
Pass	4♠	Pass	Pass

Opening—♥4

South should lead a diamond immediately.

You can see what happens. If a heart were led, declarer would win it and knock out the ace of trumps. If South shifts to a diamond then, West will win, knock out the king of clubs, and even though South returns another diamond, West can get a discard on the queen of clubs.

But if a diamond is led at trick two, West wins, knocks out the trump ace, wins South's diamond return—and South gets in with the king of clubs and leads the third diamond and defeats the contract.

Eleaner Jean Rutter Wed At St. Joseph's Cathedral

Convener

Violet Lumsden, who will convene the Valentine tea to be held by members of the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Club in the Empire Room of the Hudson's Bay company store Saturday from 3 to 5 p.m. Isabel MacMillan, president of the club, and Laura Bramley-Moore, Bobina MacMillan, Eirid Macduff and Beatrice Montgomery will assist with arrangements.

Spring flowers provided the setting in St. Joseph's Cathedral Thursday at 10 a.m. when Eleanor Jean Rutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rutter, became the bride of Dr. Rupert McConnell Clare, all of Edmonton. The Rev. Fr. A. D. O'Brien performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a three-piece salmon pink suit in ballerina length. Her accessories were in navy blue and she wore a corsage of roses.

Patricia Rooney was the bride's only attendant. Her dress of ballerina length was pale gray, complemented with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Sanford Clare was best man and ushers were Howard Clare and Dr. H. E. Duggan.

A reception following the ceremony was held in the drawing room of the Macdonald hotel where the bride's table was centred with a tiered wedding cake and decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. Mrs. James Gould and Mrs. Paul Schreiner poured coffee. Paul Schreiner proposed the toast to the bride.

Mrs. Rutter chose for her daughter's wedding a black draped afternoon model with short sleeves, pink elbow-length gloves, a black hat and a corsage of pink roses.

To Make Home In Edmonton

India's "Displaced Persons"; Choose to Live in Edmonton

"We're among India's displaced persons," laughed Lt.-Col. B. N. Steers ad Mrs. Steers, formerly of Poona, India, when interviewed Wednesday. With their two children, Jane and Susan, they have just arrived from Bombay, Singapore, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Yokohama and San Francisco and they are staying with Lt.-Col. Steers' uncle S. V. Lea, and Mrs. Lea, 9733 90 avenue.

Lt.-Col. Steers and his wife loved India and hated to leave, but with dominion status being granted to the country and with the elimination of British officers from the Indian army they had no other choice. They chose to come to Canada because they decided that a new country would offer greater chances for rehabilitation. They want to live in Edmonton. Both born in England, they have lived in India for the past nine years.

Lt.-Col. Steers is an engineer and before going to India, he worked in the Austin Motor Works in England. He was with the famous 4th Indian Division and was latterly with them trying to keep peace on the border of the Punjab. He has only the highest praise for his soldiers. "They are fine class fighting men, loyal and obedient," he said.

"A tremendous bond of friendship is being broken in the division of the country into Pakistan and India," said the former army officer. "We had Mohammedans and Hindus in the same units, living and working together happily—now the religious difference has separated them and they have drifted off to their own districts."

Lt.-Col. Steers thinks the greatest need in India today is for tolerance —a co-operation among its people to build a great united country.

When asked about housekeeping problems in India, Mrs. Steers said they didn't exist. Willing and loyal servants solved all problems for her, including the cooking. She described the baking of food with the use of charcoal—"Very primitive," she said, "But the results are marvellous."

Leisure time for the family in India was taken up by tennis, swimming, riding, golfing and club activities.

The two daughters of the family had hundreds of other children to play with, both whites and natives. From the little native children they picked up remnants of the language and eight-year old Jane could speak Urdu quite fluently when she left. As for two-year old Susan, Mrs. Steers is sure that she speaks "pure Chinese." But her English is coming along beautifully. She is quite adept at asking for "More chewing gum, mummy?"

Eileen Love-Harvey Dodds Wed in Afternoon Ceremony

St. Alphonsus Rectory was the scene of the wedding Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. of Eileen Mary Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Love, to George Harvey Dodds, son of Mrs. C. B. Dodds and the late Mr. Dodds, all of Edmonton. The Rev. Fr. J. J. Cunningham performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of slipper satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and lily-point sleeves. The fitted bodice terminated in a lace trimmed peplum over the full skirt. Her finger-tip veil fell from a beaded tiara. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and for her only jewelry she wore a wristwatch, a gift of the bridegroom.

Pauline Love attended her cousin as bridesmaid. Her pink taffeta gown was styled with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Her Dutch cap and elbow-length mittens were of matching pink lace and she carried a spring bouquet.

Erven Carson attended the bridegroom as best man.

A reception following the ceremony was held for 90 guests at the Corona hotel. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier cake and decorated with spring flowers. Ronald Morris proposed the toast to the bride.

Mrs. Love chose for her daughter's wedding an afternoon model of beige-gray crepe complemented with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Dodds, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black crepe ensemble with black accessories and red roses.

The couple will take up residence at 10615 111 street.

Long Skirts "Dangerous"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Okay, girls. Go ahead and look grandmotherish in your long skirts if you want to.

But if and when you wake up in an ambulance, don't say you were not warned. If and when you wake up.

This warning came today from the American automobile association, an outfit normally more interested in windshields than women.

Right now, says the A.A.A., girls have a lovely pedestrian record. Men are much more efficient at getting themselves run over. They lead women in this dismal statistic, 78 per cent to 22.

One reason for this, says the A.A.A., with a slight leer: Women usually have worn light-colored hose. This makes them easier to see at night, and is, as everybody knows, one of the more attractive things about women.

Now what do these silly creatures expect to do? They plan to wear swirling skirts that cover up their legs. And that part of the leg which can be seen often will be covered with a dark, hard-to-see stocking.

The A.A.A. looks gloomily at the future.

Women hampered and hemmed in by their own hemlines . . . stumbling over their dresses as they totter out of buses . . . catching their skirts in street car doors . . . hiding their vision behind hoods.

So take a long look at the ladies men. What with the danger and all, it may be more than their new look. It may be our last one.

Soroptomists To Hold Meeting

The Soroptimist Club will hold its annual dinner meeting at the Corona hotel Monday at 6.30 p.m. It was decided at an executive meeting of the club at the home of Dorothy Singleton, 12111 Jasper avenue, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Lois Young was in the chair.

At a recent meeting at the home of Winnie Gardiner, members of the club completed an afghan for overseas. A letter of appreciation was received from Soroptimists in England who were sent boxes of baby garments each month.

The word "soviet" means "council" in English.

Betty Olsen Becomes Bride

Bouquets of daffodils and tulips decorated Central Lutheran Church recently when Pearl Betty Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Olsen, became the bride of Vernon David, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. David, all of Edmonton. The Rev. T. Maakestad officiated at the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a floor-length gown of white satin fashioned with a U-shaped neckline and long sleeves tapering over the wrists. Her long veil was held in place with a Mary Queen of Scots headdress and she carried a bouquet of roses. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Evelyn Olsen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Eva Greenfield was bridesmaid. The attendants were dressed in blue brocaded silk and pink taffeta and net, respectively, and carried bouquets of carnations and gardenias.

Allan Olsen, brother of the bride was best man, and ushers were Donald Carter and Mack Cameron. Gordon Haffo played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Marie Christie sang "Because."

A reception following the ceremony was held at which the bride's table was set with a lace cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake, flanked by white tapers. B. Sanderson proposed the toast to the bride.

Mrs. O. Lindbeck poured coffee and Carmel Caldwall, Sybil Leach, Audrey Ferguson and Lynn Rome seth assisted in serving.

Mrs. Olsen chose for her daughter's wedding a floral silk jersey dress with black accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of cocoa brown with accessories in a darker shade and a corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. David will live at 7605 112 avenue.

Press Club Awards Medal

VANCOUVER, Feb. 5.—(CP)—The Canadian Women's Press club memorial award of 1947, a gold medal and $100, last night was presented to Mrs. Margaret Ecker Francis for the best handling of a Canadian news event of significance.

Presentation of the award was made by Miss Elsa Herwig of Ottawa, chairman of the 1946-47 memorial award committee, at a reception sponsored by the press club's Vancouver branch. Mrs. Francis' article dealt with the nostalgia of returned service men and women for their overseas experiences.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Liberal member of the B.C. legislature for Victoria and a newspaper columnist, said in an address that "newspaper work today had lost the 'atmosphere' of earlier days.

"There were no bylines in those days and no 40 or 48-hour weeks," she said. "We worked 60 to 70 hours, but in spite of that there was something about the atmosphere then which has been lost in the passing of time. I, for one, regret it."

Mrs. Francis also won the award in 1944 as an accredited war correspondent for The Canadian Press.

North American Life Reports

"Every insurance company is a service institution and, as a mutual company, this statement is doubly true of the North American Life," said Norman S. Robertson, president of North American Life Assurance Company, in addressing the annual meeting of the company recently.

"As at the year end we had something in excess of 110,000 members (our policyholders) who held contracts to secure future benefits in excess of $445,914,000. Our new business in 1947 amounted to nearly $66,000,000 and, after allowing for lapses, surrenders and termination, our insurance in force increased by over $42,000,000 or 10½ per cent and, as mentioned, now totals $445,914,000.

"Our assets have now reached a total in excess of $112,980,000. This is a large sum and represents moneys entrusted to our care, which our policyholders have accumulated by their own enterprise and thrift. This fund, with future premiums and interest, will enable us to meet our commitments and will protect our policyholders against the uncertainties of the future.

"In the past 12 months we paid to policyholders and their beneficiaries in death claims, matured endowments and other benefits well over $6,000,000."

W. M. Anderson, general manager, reported that the new business of $66,000,000 increased by nearly eight per cent over the record figure of 1946 and was 50 per cent higher than the 1945 amount. He declared that the result was achieved with a slightly smaller field force than in the preceding year, indicating a further increase in the production per field man with a consequent increase in his earnings. He said it was interesting to note that the average new policy reached an amount of $3,235, an increase of 10 per cent over the 1946 average of $2,926.

London Stocks

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(Reuters)—Publications of the government white paper on wage policy, together with the overnight slump on Wall Street made for uncertainty and caution on the stock exchange today.

The fear exists that Prime Minister Attlee's call for wage limitation will lead to some demand for a similar policy regarding dividends, with possibility of legislation in the next budget.

Prices among industrials and oils moved lower but at no time were there any signs of pronounced selling.

Financial Review

TORONTO, Feb. 5—(CP)—Fractional losses dominated the industrial lists on the Toronto Stock Exchange today in relatively brisk trading. Mining stocks eased within narrow range with fewer issues featuring while western oils were quietly off. Share transfers were about half yesterday's aggregate with the volume about 1,000,000 shares.

All industrial groups weakened with newsprints, utilities, steels down fractions to the occasional point for most issues trading. Senior golds were quiet on narrow losses.

Base metals were weak on a few gains including Noranda, Steep Rock and Waite Amulet while losers were Smelters, East Sullivan, Eureka, Hudson Bay, Nickel, Labrador, Osisko, Sherritt.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Industrials were irregularly lower in light dealings on the stock exchange and curb market today. Trading in mines was moderate and prices showed a mild improvement.

Price led paper losers by dropping 1½ points and International Paper eased 11 points.

Bell moved down ⅛ and Brazilian ¼ in utilities. Shawinigan and Winnipeg Electric were shaded. A bright spot in today's trading was Noranda up ¾ in metals. Canadian Breweries advanced ⅛ in beverages but Seagrams lost ¼.

In oils, Consolidated-Homestead dropped ¾.

Normetal went forward five cents and Sullivan four cents in mines.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Further weakness of commodities was reflected in another slide for stocks today with the market averaget touching a new bottom since last June.

Dealings, active in the forenoon, quieted somewhat after midday as mild recovery attempts were assayed. While extreme losses were reduced here and there near the close, recessions of fractions to 2 or more points maintained a wide majority with virtually all groups affected. Transfers for the full stretch ran to around 1,200,000 shares, among the best of the last two months.

Canadian issues were lower with the exception of Dome Mines, up ¼. McIntyre dropped ¾. Distillers Seagrams was down ⅛. Canadian Pacific lost ⅝. Hiram Walker was unquoted.

Grain Futures Score New Lows

WINNIPEG, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Oats and barley futures scored new lows during early trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange as heavy selling, prompted by weaknesses on American commodity market, continued and support was thin. In the last half of the session prices made slight recoveries. Indications of a firmer trend in Chicago oats contributed to some modest gains.

Rye futures, declining the maximum 10-cents limit in early trading, rested there until the close. Rye dealings also reflected the heavy declines on American markets.

The United Kingdom was allocated 615,000 bushels under the Canadian wheat agreement, while 250,000 bushels business since the Canadian wheat board announced last Monday applications for export permits to ship limited quantities of mixed feed oats to Sweden or Greece would be accepted.

Class two wheat prices declined 10 cents from yesterday.

In most grain contracts the seasonal peaks were made Friday, Jan. 16. The peak on May wheat, however, was made Nov. 28, 1947, while that on May oats was established Jan. 23.

Brokers attributed the decline to the same forces as were operating yesterday — heavy liquidation through commission houses meeting an extremely limited amount of new buying.

With the exception of September and December oats, everything closed at the bottom. There were numerous unfilled selling orders in the wheat and corn pits.

May wheat closed at $2.66⅜, May corn $2.31⅝, and May oats $11.06¾.

Companies Make Two Leduc Deals

Homestead and New Ranchmen's Oil Companies have consummated a deal involving 640 acres in the Leduc oil field, it was announced on Wednesday. The acreage, which is subject to title examination, is approximately six miles north-east of Imperial-Woodbend No. 1 discovery well.

The blocks of land obtained in the transaction are the southeast quarter of section five, the west half of section eight, the southwest quarter of section 17, all in township 52, range 25 W4th.

It is reported the acreage will be shared two-thirds by Homestead and one-third by New Ranchmen's. Drilling programs will be announced at a later date.

Continental Oil Company of Canada Limited also announced a property agreement Wednesday. Involved is a quarter-section of freehold rights held by the Globe and Leduc West companies. The southwest quarter of section 5 50-26 W4th, it is located about one and one-half miles southwest of the present limits of the Leduc field. Continental already has one good producer, Continental-Leduc No. 1, at the southern extremity of the field. This well flush flowed at the rate of 115 barrels hourly.

By terms of the agreement Continental will recover costs of production in the event that oil is found and will take 50 per cent of any production profits. Globe and Leduc West will get 25 per cent each of any production profits.

The Continental company expects to get four wells started in the Leduc area this month. Continental-Leduc No. 11 will be drilled on the Globe-Leduc West quarter section. Others are Continental-Leduc No. 2, an east offset to the No. 1 producer; No. 3 about two miles north and east of the producing area; No. 7 about two and one-quarter miles west of the field's southern producers.

Superintendent Child Welfare Paid Tribute

Personal concern of Charles B. Hill, superintendent of Child Welfare, for children released through the Child Welfare Branch and his supervision of the department were endorsed wholeheartedly in one of five briefs submitted during a short "open session" of the Royal Commission conducting an investigation in child welfare in Alberta.

HEARINGS SO FAR this week have been held in a closed court except for the open session, lasting for about one hour, Tuesday morning, during which five submissions were read into the record.

The submission lauding the work of Charles B. Hill, was received from a Calgary resident who stated:

"If there has been any neglect (referring to the conduct of the Welfare Bureau) it would certainly be due to an overload of work, and the amount of good he has done through the department both for the welfare of many children, and for the happiness of many foster parents should greatly outweigh any sins of omission.

"I would be glad to have this letter submitted to the commission if it would avail at all as evidence that Mr. Hill had a very big job to do and did it well and that the great amount of work he has done should be recognized rather than give criticism for what has been left undone."

THE LETTER FROM the Calgary writer continued:

"In 1943 I approached Mr. Hill with regard to the adoption of a child. He personally arranged for me to see several children and was most patient until I decided to adopt a girl of about three years—and I might say, that in the first place, my character and home had been well inspected.

"This little girl had been in my charge for several months and was happy and contented and I was surprised when Mr. Hill called unexpectedly, accompanied by an inspector connected with the welfare board. Our visit was very friendly and my home was inspected again.

"Some time later I was advised that the lady that had taken charge of this girl as a baby had seen the little girl with me in the city, and thinking that she looked pale, had reported me to Mr. Hill as not being capable of caring properly for the little girl. As a result, Mr. Hill promptly had come down to look into the matter.

"A person who was careless of the welfare of children in his charge would not have done this, and knowing how busy he was I was surprised he attended to the matter personally. But this is only one instance of his attention to duty.

"I have spoken to many who have adopted children through the Child Welfare branch and under the personal supervision of Mr. Hill, and all agree he was most careful in placing the children in suitable homes."

A SUBMISSION from the Local Council of Women of Calgary charged that the law regarding adoption was an unjust law and proceeded to outline four points which it considered unjust.

Firstly, the Council of Women stated that it was wrong in principle because it bars the individual from direct use of the courts. Under an amendment of the Child Welfare Act passed in recent years, an individual wishing to adopt cannot himself apply to the courts, but first must apply to the Child Welfare Commission.

Second point advanced by the Council is that there is nothing to require disclosure of any records of the Commission's first decision in regard to any application for adoption. In so far as the members of the commission are appointed by the party in power in the government, the Calgary Council of Women suggests that it would be possible for an application to be turned down because of political prejudice.

Further it was the opinion of the Council that the Act should provide that prospective foster parents should appear before a judge, and that such appearances should not be the result of the judicial fairness of the judge.

THE FOURTH POINT raised was that the Act does not assure a prospective foster parent the benefit of a priority arising from the order in which application for adoption are filed. They state that the order of consideration of applications is in the hands of the commission.

In conclusion the Local Council of Women of Calgary feels that the Act should never have been amended as nothing was wrong with the procedure in the adoption act as it stood in 1944.

F. G. Buchanan, Calgary superintendent of Schools, in a brief submitted by the Calgary Public School Board, proposed that a provincial institution be established which would provide a regular mode of life, free from insecurity and temptations for children, mostly boys, who have become chronic truants and almost permanent absentees from schools. The submission stated that these boys came from broken homes or homes where parents are unable to exercise normal control.

ALL EXISTING agencies, both provincial and local, according to the brief, seem inaffective in their efforts to provide an environment that will remedy the defective habits and character of these young people.

A member of the Canadian Legion at Medicine Hat, James S. De Boer proposed that all fathers and mothers put in charge of children by the court should be interdicted from visiting beer parlors and drinking places where spirits are sold. He cited an instance where children had been neglected in favor of a beer parlor.

Couple of Slugs For Bull Is O.K.

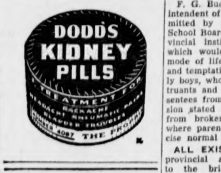

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Beer for cows; certainly not. But a wee nip of something stronger for the male of the species isn't amiss.

Dairymen at the University of Wisconsin Farm and Home Show pooh-poohed claims that a beer-drinking English cow produced 41,952 pounds of milk in 329 days, and declared they'd continue to feed alfalfa, silage and grain.

It's different, though, with bulls.

"A couple of slugs of gin or bourbon will do wonders for a listless, sleepy-eyed bull," one veteran cattleman commented. "But give 'em too much and you'd better run for the barn."

Starlings were introduced into North America in 1890.

T.C.A. Head Sees "Tough Sledding"

WINNIPEG, Feb. 5.—(CP)—A warning that "difficult financial sledding" is ahead in 1948 was given yesterday by Gordon R. McGregor, 47, a fighter ace of the Second World War who Tuesday was named president of Trans-Canada Airlines.

Mr. McGregor said that T.C.A. was in no different position than any other airlines company and considerably more difficulty would be evident this year.

Modernization and extension of services by airlines would contribute to the increasing difficulty with revenues from traffic not scheduled to keep pace with the cost of improvements effected.

He said that the addition soon of a new fleet of four-engined North Star aircraft would form a substantial part of increasing expenditure.

The former resident of Montreal, who is believed one of the oldest combat pilots to have flown in the Second World War, succeeds H. J. Symington as president. He joined the company in 1945 after a war career that brought five decorations.

Fraudulent Entry, Must Be Deported

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Resources Minister Glen yesterday announced refusal of an appeal against deportation of seven aliens who entered Canada by fraud and disclosed there are others "attempting to effect admission to Canada by the same illegal means."

The seven, arrested in Toronto some weeks ago and at last report being held at the immigration station in Montreal, were taken into custody by R.C.M.P. and immigration authorities after an official tip-off from U.K. authorities.

They reached Canada on false British passports obtained from a "person who, for a substantial sum, offered to obtain entry documents and secure their admission to Canada," the minister said in a statement.

The minister emphasized that many displaced persons in refugee camps had been approved for admission to the Dominion and were patiently awaiting transportation to Canada. It would be "unthinkable" to allow aliens to obtain advantage over these persons by fraudulent means.

Court of Appeal Sustains Judgment

VICTORIA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—William Munavish, 34, Vancouver, yesterday lost his appeal from an indeterminate sentence in penitentiary as an habitual criminal.

He also failed in his appeal to the British Columbia Court of Appeal against conviction of having house-breaking tools in his possession for which he had been sentenced to five years. The court, however, allowed his appeal against conviction of having explosives in his possession. He had been sentenced to five years in penitentiary on this count, to run concurrently with other terms.

Munavish is the first person in Canada to be convicted under the habitual criminal act, in force since last July.

Judge Lennox, in sentencing Munavish last Nov. 13, said that since Munavish was 18 he previously had been convicted at least three times of indicable offences for which he was liable to at least five years imprisonment.

Creamery Butter Stocks Decrease

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Creamery butter stocks in nine Canadian cities dropped to 20,119,469 pounds from 28,804,441 on Jan. 1, but were higher than stocks of 17,441,179 a year ago, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. Cheese stocks totalled 17,782,489 pounds against 20,148,382 Jan. 1 and 14,875,868 Feb. 1, 1947.

Stocks in western cities Feb. 1, with 1947 figures in brackets, were: Winnipeg, 3,559,777 (2,631,519); Regina, 239,474 (305,037); Saskatoon, 114,352 (228,474); Edmonton, 1,127,715 (376,581); Calgary, 849,118 (444,159); Vancouver, 2,782,463 (1,056,068).

Italy Asks U.S. Navy Eliminate Visits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Italy is reported to have suggested informally to the United States that it would be politically smart to ease up on visits of American warships to Italian ports. The presence of United States Mediterranean fleet units in Italian harbors recently has been attacked by Russia. Italian Communists have been making political capital of it.

A struggle now is getting under way between Communists and non-Communists preliminary to the Italian general elections in April. The Italian government doesn't want the warship visits to become an issue.

Revenue Collections Studied

Economists Speculate On Possible Tax Cuts

By Chester Bloom
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—Unofficial economists are busy in Ottawa today figuring how much might be shaved off taxes as the result of Prime Minister King's casual remark Monday night that "it has been stated in the press that the proper way to bring down the cost of living is to make certain changes in the tax schedules and the like."

THE PRESS STATEMENTS Mr. King referred to have been mostly arguments for reduction of the sales tax.

It is interesting to note the amounts collected from the sales tax, according to annual budget figures, over the past five fiscal years, as follows:

1942-43, $250,478,000; 1943-44, $339,256,000; 1944-45, $404,109,000; 1945-46, $326,253,000; 1946-47, $298,000,000; 1947-48, (estimated) $325,000,000.

It will be thus observed that sales tax revenue at a peak in 1944-45 the last war year, decreased greatly in the next two years but began to rise again in 1947-48 and undoubtedly produced much greater revenue this fiscal year, though the exact figures are not yet available.

REVENUES FROM other main taxes in the same periods were as follows:

Income tax: 1942-43, $534,138,000; 1943-44, $813,435,000; 1944-45, $767,755,000; 1945-46, $691,586,000; 1946-47 (estimated) $695,000,000.

Thus despite material cuts in the income tax, the revenue from it was steadily rising, again after a drop from the peak war year of 1943-44. In Hon. D. C. Abbott's last budget, he estimated for this fiscal year ending March 31 next, would produce $625,000,000 in spite of the additional income tax cuts.

Corporation income tax: 1942-43, $347,970,000; 1943-44, $311,379,000; 1944-45, $276,404,000; 1945-46, $217,834,000; 1946-47, $239,000,000; 1947-48 (estimated) $300,000,000.

Excess profits tax: 1942-43, $454,581,000; 1943-44, $468,718,000; 1944-45, $465,805,000; 1945-46, $494,196,000; 1946-47, $449,000,000; 1947-47, (estimated) $170,000,000.

THE BIG DROP in the excess profits tax estimated for this fiscal year was due to the almost complete ilimination of that tax in the last budget. There have been some hints that this tax might possibly be increased this year together with a simultaneous cut in the sales tax.

The fly in the soothing ointment of all these rich tax revenues, according to officials of the federal treasury, is that despite a big apparent revenue surplus this fiscal year, account has to be taken of immense payments made to the United Kingdom and foreign nations as "advances" against Canadian loans to them. There "advances do not appear in the budget as expenditures—nevertheless, actually, they are paid exactly as any other expenditure."

FOR EXAMPLE, in the December statement of the comptroller of the treasury, covering nine months of the fiscal year, 1947-48 from April 1, 1947 to December 31, 1947, while grand total revenue was paced at $2,059,902,578.94 against total expenditures in the same nine months of only $1,413,671,657.94 showing an apparent surplus of $646,230,921.73 that apparent surpluses very misleading.

There has to be subtracted from it another total of $353,531,713.63 of cash "advances" made to the United Kingdom and foreign nations. That would reduce the apparent surplus to less than half of $312,699,208.10. Moreover, these advances will continue to be made over the next three months of the fiscal year while revenues from customs and excise duties will steadily decrease due to the ban on imports to save exchange. In fact, if the government finishes the fiscal year next March 31 with a surplus of $100,000,000 it will be doing well.

WHETHER MATERIAL tax cuts can be made on that basis in the face of steadily decreasing revenues for the coming fiscal year is still a large guess. The pressure, however, to reduce the sales tax is becoming so great, that the govplete elimination of that tax in the some ground.

He criticized United States and other western powers for interfering in the internal affairs of the country.

Australia Has Big Wheat Crop

CANBERRA, Feb. 5.—(Reuters)—Reginald Pollard, Australian commerce minister, stated yesterday that the latest estimate put this season's Australian wheat crop at 205,000,000 bushels or 9,000,000 bushels less than the record crop of 1932.

Only on three occasions has Australia's wheat crop exceeded 200,000,000 bushels.

Pollard's figure excluded wheat unlikely to be marketed, whereas an estimate of 228,000,000 bushels released yesterday by the commonwealth statistician, Dr. Roland Wilson, included feed and seed wheat.

The harvest is almost double that of 1946-47.

Retain Savings Against Taxes

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Revenue Minister McCann told a questioner in the commons yesterday that compulsory savings collected by the government during the war are being retained against arrears in income tax payments.

Answering T. J. Bentley (C.C.F.—Swift Current), Mr. McCann said retention of savings against arrears was being made under an order-in-council passed Jan. 8.

Answering another question, he said the total amount repayable—including personal and excess profits tax—had been $524,200,000, of which $3,673,000 already had been paid out.

The remaining totals to be paid were $261,331,000 in personal income tax and $259,196,000 in excess profits tax. Already repaid were $3,669,000 in personal tax and $4,000 in excess profits tax.

Greeks Find Canada Mortar Ammunition

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(CP)—The Communist Daily Worker said yesterday "large quantities of Canadian heavy mortar ammunition has been captured by Greek Democratic army units of the central Macedonian command on the road between Arnea and Panachia."

The report, for which no source was given, did not give any further details.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—(CP)—The Canadian heavy mortar ammunition reported by the Communist Daily Worker in London as having been captured by Communist forces in Northern Greece probably came from dumps in Western Europe left behind when the war ended, officials said today.

Stable-Boy Marries His Former Heiress Employer

EDINBURGH, Feb. 5.—(Reuters)—Tall, attractive Miss Catherine Parr Strickland, 29-year-old heiress and huntswoman, was married quietly in an Edinburgh registrar's office yesterday to her former stableboy, James Stuart Fairbairn, 29-year-old guide in Banff National Park, Alberta.

After a honeymoon in Scotland the couple will fly to Canada to settle down on a western ranch.

Fairbairn, who helped his father run his bride's stable before the war, went to Canada last year after demobilizing from the British veterinary corps in which he served for five years.

The bride, like her husband, is extremely fond of horses. She came to live at Galashiels, Selkirkshire, on the Scottish border just before the war, in a mansion given to her by her grandmother as a coming-of-age present.

The couple met when he came home on leave in 1944 and they frequently went riding together. On these occasions, Fairbairn wore blue cowboy trousers, Stetson hat, polo neck jersey and high-heeled riding boots. For his wedding yesterday he wore a lounge suit.

Their engagement was made public only last Monday.

Fairbairn gave his address as Kamasakas ranch, Sebbe, Alta.

The bride's father was the late Louis Fauquier Strickland, a staff captain in the Canadian army.

Up Another 2.3 Points

Cost-of-Living Index Again Jumps Sharply

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—The official cost-of-living index shot up another 2.3 points during December to reach a peak of 148.3 at Jan. 2, compared with 146.0 at Dec. 1, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

THIS MAKES A TOTAL rise in the cost of living during the last year—from Jan. 1, 1947, to Jan. 2, 1948—of 21.3 points.

The bureau said increases in food, home furnishings and services contributed to the jump during December.

The index is calculated on the basis that 1938-39 equals 100.

The jump of 2.3 points during December compared with an increase of 2.4 points in November.

Detailing the factors in the rise, the bureau said the food index during December moved from 178.7 to 182.2, with prices for butter and vegetables accounting for most of the increase.

ALTHOUGH MEATS showed scattered increases during that month, prices at the beginning of January had shown no general rise over Dec. 1 levels. Prices for eggs and citrus fruits, in fact, had declined moderately.

Yesterday's index does not reflect the higher meat prices which came into effect early in January, too late for recording in the current report. They will be shown when the January index is released early next month.

Clothing mounted from 159.3 to 161.2 and fuel and light went up from 120.3 to 120.4.

Rentals, still under rigid ceilings and eviction control, continued unchanged at 119.9.

CANADIAN FARM products advanced from 130.9 to 133.7 in the same period. Declines, concentrated mainly in the latter half of January, for hides, eggs and wool, were outweighed by advances in grains, livestock, milk and potatoes.

The monthly average index for industrial materials was 146.8 compared with 143.9 for December and 109.7 for January, 1947, while that for Canadian farm products was 133.1, compared with 129.4 for December and 114.4 for January, 1947.

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—Seventy-nine municipalities have "active" applications in the federal government's 1947 program of 12,000 low-rental housing units for war veterans, Trade Minister Howe announced in the Commons yesterday.

He was answering a question by Gordon Isnor (L.—Halifax) for particulars of the plan under which the Dominion co-operates with municipalities by building homes for rental, with local governments providing land and municipal services.

Houses requested: By municipalities in Western Canada (x-number of houses not specified):

Soviet Russia Has Own Troubles

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The full text of Russia's state budget message for 1948 details Soviet difficulties with self-proclaimed waste, inefficiency and graft.

A 10,000-word document, the report of Finance Minister Arseny Zverev, was recorded by the United States government's radio monitoring service and distributed to officials.

Urging increased output and tighter economy, Zverev cited numerous instances of shortcomings by Soviet state enterprises.

Naming the heads of various regional and provincial departments, he said they were responsible for inadequate assessment of taxes and inefficient collections.

Strong Stand For Free Enterprise

REGINA, Feb. 5.—(CP)—C. Bruce Hill, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce declared here last night political freedom was invariably lost when economic freedom disappeared "through government controls or otherwise."

In an address prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Regina chamber, Mr. Hill asserted: "The right of free citizens to sell their services and products cannot be surrendered to the government without a loss of personal liberty such as few citizens would be willing to accept. Under such conditions, wages received and prices paid become established out of political rather than economic conditions.

"Government planners never can and never will possess the initiative and dynamic qualities of free enterprise . . .

"Heavy taxation, too many bureaucrats and excessive governmental control all tend to stifle freedom of enterprise."

Mr. Hill, whose home is at St. Catharines, Ont., said the Chamber has steadfastly opposed any encroachment on individual rights.

French Ambassador To Canada Named

PARIS, Feb. 5.—(CP)—A foreign ministry source said last night that Francisque Gay, veteran leader of the Mouvement Republicain Populaire (M.R.P.), had been nominated as French ambassador to Canada.

The French government asked Canadian approval last Monday. The post has been vacant since December when Ambassador Jean De Hauteclocque was named to the Brussels embassy.

Member Is Named Quebec Legislature

QUEBEC, Feb. 5.—Leon Casgrain, Liberal member for Riviere-Du-Loup and former attorney-general, was named last night during a noisy sitting of the legislative assembly. He lost his right of speech for the few minutes that remained before adjournment.

Mr. Casgrain protested to the speaker that he had been unable to make out a committee chairman's verbal report and thought it was false.

He remained on his feet for several seconds while the speaker signalled to him to resume his seat and finally Speaker Alexandre Tache said:

"I call to order Mr. Leon Casgrain, member for Riviere-Du-Loup."

There was no expulsion motion and the Riviere-Du-Loup member remained at his seat.
